KAMIMURA IS NOW A VICTOR

Defeats the Vladivostok Squadron in Fierce Battle Lasting Hours.

RURIK IS DESTROYED

Cruisers Rossia and Gromoboi, Badly Injured, Flee to Northward.

JAPANESE LOSE NO SHIPS

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

LONDON, Aug. 15.—The Tokyo correspondent of the Daily Telegraph in a dispatch dated August 14, says:

"The Nemuro (Japan) Telegram states that Russian soldiers of Kamchatku massacred 87 of the crew of the Japanese schooner Teichi."

VLADIVOSTOK, Aug. 14.—The commandant of the port has notified the pupils of the upper classes of the naval schools to hold themselves in readiness to assist either in the fortifications or on the vessels of the squadron. A portion of the lower classes may also be called out.

TOKYO, Aug. 14.—(4 p. m.)—Vice Admiral Kamimura encountered the Russian Vladivostok squadron at dawn today north of Tsu island, in the straits of Korea, and attacked the enemy at once. The battle lasted for five hours and resulted in a complete Japanese victory. The Russian cruiser Rurik was sunk, and the cruisers Rossia and Gromoboi fled to the northward, after having sustained serious damage.

Vice Admiral Kamimura cables the navy department that the injuries inflicted upon his vessels were slight.

The fate of the crew of the Rurik is not known. It is presumed that many of them were killed or drowned. The strength of the fleet under Vice Admiral Kamimura is not known, but it is presumed that he had the Adsuma, Idsumo, Iwate, Takashiho and other light cruisers.

Statement of Japanese Losses.

The following are the casualtics sustained by the Japanese in the action of August 10:

On board the battleship Mikasa, Admiral Togo's flagship, there were four officers and 29 men killed, six officers and 29 men severely wounded, and four officers and 29 men slightly wounded. The armored cruiser Yakumo had one officer and 11 men killed and 10 wounded; the armored cruiser Nisshin seven officers and nine men killed and two officers and 15 men wounded.

Ten men were wounded on the armored cruiser Kasuga.

The torpedo boat destroyer Asagiri had two men killed.

On board torpedo boat No. 38 one man was killed and eight other wounded.

In the fight the squadron under Admiral Togo was practically uninjured. The battleship Mikasa suffered the most, but she continues on the fighting line. The cruisers Yakumo, Nisshia and Kasuga also were hit, but temporary repairs already have been made, and they are fully serviceable.

Imperial Prince Wounded.

Eleven wounded officers and 66 wounded men arrived at Sasebo today. The imperial prince, Hiroyasu Kwacho, who holds the rank of commander in the Japanese navy, was hit in the region of the heart. His wound, however, is slight.

The steamer Gaelic, bound for Shanghai, at 10 o'clock yesterday morning sighted a Russian cruiser, evidently the Novik, steering southeast by east. This course showed her to be heading for Van Diemen strait, about 210 miles south of Nagasaki. It would be presumed from the Novik's going in this direction that she purposes to try and reach Vladivostok by the east coast of Japan.

Russians Had Larger Fleet.

Flags are flying, lanterns are glimmering and cries of "Banzai" are ringing in the streets of Tokyo tonight, in honor of the victories gained at sea by Admiral Togo and Vice Admiral Kamimura. Underneath the jollity of the populace lies a feeling of deep satisfaction and gratification at the disposal of a desperately serious problem of the war.

The Russian squadron which confronted Admiral Togo refused battle. It was stronger than Admiral Togo's squadron in battleships and armored cruisers, and had it elected to fight, the result might have altered the fortunes of war. The strength of the squadron which opposed Admiral Togo compelled him to draw vessels from the squadron under Vice Admiral Kamimura, and this left the Japanese navy powerless to operate against

"TAKE CITADEL AT ANY COST"

Orders from the Mikado Turn Reinforcements to Port Arthur.

ATTACK HAS BEGUN

Storming of the Fortress Commenced Early This Morning by the Japanese.

DEFENDERS RESIST BRAVELY

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

CHEFOO, Aug. 15.—(1:30 p. m.)—A telegram just received here from a reliable source states that a general attack on Port Arthur began at 4 o'clock this morning.

CHEFOO, Aug. 15 (1 a. m.)—A Chinese junk just arrived reports that the Russians and the Japanese at Port Arthur on August 8 agreed to a short armistice on August 12.

LONDON, Aug. 15.—The Tokyo correspondent of the Daily Telegraph sends a report that Port Arthur was again bottled up on the night of August 11, but there is nothing from other sources to confirm this report.

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 14.—A dispatch from Mukden states that the Japanese Port Arthur army has been largely reinforced and has taken up position in two large bodies, one on the heights between Lung-Wung-Tao and Pigeon bay, and the other on the hills near Louisa bay. Guns have also been placed on the heights east of the Wolf hills.

The Bourse Gazette has received the following from its Liao-Yang correspondent:

"Twelve Japanese regiments have left in the direction of Port Arthur.

"It is stated on trustworthy authority that the mikado has ordered that Port Arthur must be taken at any cost, even if it necessitates the suspension of operations in Manchuria, and it is quite possible that the main Japanese force will proceed to Port Arthur within a few days.

LIAO-YANG, Aug. 12.—(Delayed in transmission.) The following further particulars of the Japanese attack on Port Arthur on July 26 are given by a Russian correspondent:

"The Japanese, on July 25, sent a summons to the fortress to surrender and served notice of their intention to storm. On the following morning at 6.30 they concentrated the fire of 120 guns on Green hills. Many of their shells were filled with melenite, which gave off noxious gases. Their land guns were supplemented by the fire of the fleet, and the Japanese infantry moved forward to attack the right wing of the Green hills position.

"There was a perfect cloud of shells, and the bombardment was the heaviest so far during the siege. In the course of the day the Japanese artillery sent in from 25,000 to 30,000 rounds.

"The attack failed utterly, despite the bombardment. The Japanese were never able to reach our positions, to which our men clung tenaciously. Finally the attackers were rolled back with terrific loss.

"The decision to abandon the Wolf hills position, in view of the attack and that on other portions of the line, was made on July 30 and the troops fell back on Port Arthur.

"The Nove Krae, in the interests of both sides raised the question of an armistice to bury the dead who were left on the field in enormous numbers."

Japanese Used Balloons.

Another Russian correspondent writes:

A Japanese war balloon ascended three times on the morning of July 26, carrying photographic apparatus, but its observations were not particularly successful, judging by the results of the artillery fire.

Our fleet, during the battle of July 26, greatly hampered the attempts of the Japanese fleet to support the land attack on our frontal positions. Our ships moved to the outer roadstead—the battleship Retvizan, the cruisers Novik, Diana and Bayan, with several gunboats and three divisions of torpedo boats, participating. The Japanese had two battleships, armored cruisers, many torpedo boats and eight or 10 auxiliary cruisers.

The bombardment was furious on both sides. The Japanese torpedo boats came in several times and daringly attempted to get at our vessels. Each time they were met with equal bravery by our torpedo boats and torpedo boat destroyers, and their attacks were frustrated.

Toward nightfall the whole Japanese fleet put to sea, followed for a considerable distance by our destroyers, who finally lost sight of it. We left a gunboat outside and retired to the inner harbor.

During the thick of the fight a shell from the Retvizan put a Japanese cruiser out of action.

RUSSIA CALLS IT OUTRAGEOUS

Uses Strong Language in Protest to Japan Concerning Ryeshitelni.

REPORTS TO CZAR

They Confirm Statement That Torpedo Boat Destroyer Was Dismantled.

DENIAL IS ISSUED BY JAPAN

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

LONDON, Aug. 15.—The Chefoo correspondent of the Daily Telegraph under date of August 13, says:

"Admiral Sah states that the Japanese promised to return the Rieshitelni today."

CHEFOO, Aug. 14.—(10 p. m.)—The Japanese consul here states that his government has no idea of returning the Ryeshitelni.

TSINGCHOU, Aug. 15.—(Noon.)—The Russian flag has just been pulled down from the battleship Czarevitch and the three cruisers which took refuge here. The lowering of the colors was done in the presence of the German governor.

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 14.—By command of the emperor, Foreign Minister Lamsdorff has instructed M. Nelidoff, the Russian ambassador at Paris, to request that France, on behalf of Russia, shall lodge a strong protest with the French minister at Tokyo, M. Harmand, against what is described as an outrageous violation of Chinese neutrality and of universally recognized principles of international law, involved in the Japanese attack on the Russian torpedo boat destroer, Ryeshitelni, in a neutral harbor.

The foreign powers have also been informed of the Russian declaration, and the Russian minister at Pekin, Paul Lessar, is charged to protest to the Chinese government.

Alexieff Reports the Incident.

The emperor has received the following from Viceroy Alexieff, dated August 13:

Supplementing my telegram of August 12—Our consul at Chefoo reports that while he was conferring with the Taotai regarding the temporary stay of the Ryeshitelni to repair her engines there, the commander of the boat, acting under instructions from Rear Admiral Grigorovitch and owing to the defective condition of the engines, entered into negotiations with the Chinese admiral concerning the disarmament of the Ryeshitelni, handed him the breech locks of the guns and the rifles and lowered his ensign and pendant.

After the Japanese attack, the crew was picked up by a boat belonging to a Chinese cruiser and other boats in the harbor. Out of the Ryeshitelni's crew of 47, four are missing. The commander was seriously but not mortally wounded by a bullet in the thigh, and was removed with Ensign Petroff, who is ill, to the French missionary hospital.

The emperor has also received the following telegram from Capt. Thestakovsky, commander of the Ryeshitelni:

On August 11 I arrived at Chefoo from Port Arthur with the Ryeshitelni bearing important dispatches, having effected a passage through two blockading lines. According to the orders of Rear Admiral Grigorovitch, I disarmed the ship and lowered my flag. All formalities were duly carried out.

On the early morning of the 12th I was in port when I was piratically attacked by the Japanese, who had approached with two torpedo boats and a cruiser, and who sent a party under an officer, as though to enter into pour-parlers. Not having arms to resist, I ordered the making of preparations to blow up my ship.

When the Japanese began to hoist their flag, I insulted the Japanese officer by striking him and throwing him into the water. I then ordered my crew to throw the enemy into the sea. Our resistence, however, proved unavailing and the Japanese took possession of the boat.

Explosions occurred in the engine room and in the fore part of the vessel, but the Ryeshitelni did not sink and was taken from port by the Japanese. I hope they will not be able to take her to one of their own ports.

My officers and crew have been saved with the exception of an engineer and a stoker. Four others were slightly wounded.

Naval Ensign Petroff, who resisted the hoisting of the Japanese flag, received a severe blow in the chest with the butt end of a musket, causing an internal hemorrhage. I received a wound in the right thigh from a bullet, which has not yet been extracted.

Japan Issues a Statement.

TOKYO, Aug. 14.—(3 p. m.)—The navy department has issued the following statement covering the Chefoo incident:

According to reports received to date the Asashiwo and Kasumi, belonging to the first destroyer flotilla, Capt. Fujinoto commanding, were dispatched in search of the enemy's ships scattered during the engagement on the night of August 10. They found a vessel resembling one of the enemy's destroyers and gave chase, but lost her in the darkness.

Conducting the search they discovered that she had entered the port of Chefoo. The Japanese ships waited outside the port, but the Russians failed to leave. Capt. Fujimoto,

ACCUSED OF BEING ONE OF THE KIDNAPERS

Antonio Galato, the Italian between the two detectives in this picture, is accused of being one of the chief black-hand conspirators in the kidnaping of little Antonio Mannino, son of the rich Brooklyn contractor. Galato was arrested after a desperate fight with the police.

CASTLE SHANNON MINERS RIOTING

Three Men Wounded in a Battle and Two Are Placed in Jail.

ARMED POSSE IS ON GUARD

Justice of the Peace W. H. Muncey of Castle Shannon last night reported he had considerable trouble in maintaining order among the Hungarian and Slav miners yesterday. During a fight three miners were shot. Joseph Benadine and Frank Liber, miners, were placed in jail last night, charged by Constable George Given with carrying concealed weapons. When arrested they had loaded shotguns. They were captured back of a mine shaft operated by the Pittsburgh Terminal Coal Company.

The Hungarian and Slav miners have been giving the residents of Castle Shannon trouble on Sundays and pay days. Six weeks ago Gov. Pennypacker appointed Muncey justice of the peace of that borough.

On Saturday the miners received their pay, and many of them became intoxicated and quarrelsome. Yesterday afternoon a call was sent to the home of Justice Muncey to send some of his constables over to the mines of the Pittsburgh Terminal Coal Company, as the miners were fighting. Constable Given and Detectives Frank Muncey and James McPherson were detailed to the shafts.

The miners had been shooting and cutting each other. When the detectives and constable appeared on the scene the miners refused to be taken into custody. They were armed and defied the officers. Realizing they would be overpowered the detectives and constable summoned some of the residents to assist them. Some 20 citizens responded and at the sight of the posse the miners scattered. The officers succeeded in capturing two of them.

The miners became enraged at the arrest of their companions, and late last night gathered about the shafts heavily armed. Justice Muncey stationed the members of his posse about the shafts in order to prevent any renewal of the fray.

It is reported three miners were shot and two cut. One of the miners received the contents of a shotgun in the side and is lying at his home in a dangerous condition. The other miners received pistol wounds and their condition is reported not to be so serious.

Detective Muncey came to this city and took a half-dozen private detectives back to Castle Shannon at midnight.

MINE OFFICIAL'S HOME WRECKED BY DYNAMITE

Outrage Is Perpetrated on Family of Superintendent Horchler of Wheeling—No One Killed.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

WHEELING, W. VA., Aug. 14.—One of the most diabolical crimes in the history of Preston county was the attempt of unknown persons at 12:15 o'clock this morning to kill Supt. F. M. Horchler of the Austen Coal and Coke Company, and his family, by blowing up the residence at Austen with dynamite. The charge was placed on the front porch, directly under the room in which the family were sleeping.

The explosive tore a large hole through the floor and dug a hole in the ground several feet below. The family all escaped injury except the baby, which was thrown out of bed by the force of the explosion, and sustained slight bruises.

There is no direct clue to lead to the identity of the person who placed the dynamite. Miners, who have been on strike since the first of January, are suspected.

TWENTY PERSONS DROWNED OFF THE COAST OF IRELAND

LONDON, Aug. 14.—The British bark Inverkip, Capt. Jones, from Melbourne for Queenstown, was sunk and 20 persons were drowned as the result of a collison off Fastnet Rock, Ireland, last night with the British ship Loch Carron, Capt. Clark, from the Clyde.

The British torpedo boat destroyer Decoy sank off the Scilly islands last night as the result of a collision with another destroyer. The crew was saved.

SIX INJURED BY EXPLODING GAS

Baby Girl and Boy at Newtown Will Die from Inhaling the Flame.

A BRAVE RESCUE BY MAN

By the explosion of a gas main at Newtown, near Turtle Creek, yesterday, two children were fatally injured and three others and a man were badly burned. The fatally injured are:

THE FATALLY INJURED.

GERTRUDE BYERS, aged 5, inhaled the flame and will die.

JAMES BROWN, aged 15, supposed to have inhaled flame.

THE INJURED.

WILLIAM COX, foreman, who was badly burned, rescuing Gertrude Byers.

ROBERT BYERS, aged 8, burned.

MARY BYERS, aged 10, burned.

LIZZIE BYERS, aged 12, burned.

There had been a leak in one of the mains of the Peoples Gas Company, and workmen under William Cox, foreman for the company, were sent to repair the pipe. They made an excavation and had uncovered the leak at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. Luckily the workmen were all out of the excavation and they were being watched by a crowd of children who stood at the edge of the hole.

It is alleged that one of the children dropped a lighted match on the main. This could not be verified. When the gas let go Gertrude Byers, a cousin of the other three Byers children who were hurt, was thrown into the hole and so severely burned and shocked that there is little hope for her recovery.

William Cox, the foreman, would have been unhurt, but he jumped into the flame after the baby and was badly burned while making the rescue. Robert, Mary and Lizie Byers are the children of Henry Byers, and they were grouped together when the flame enveloped them. They were taken to their home, where their injuries were attended to and all will recover.

James Brown is a son of Robert Brown and was so badly burned that his recovery is not expected. Cox was attended to at the home of the little girl he rescued, who is a daughter of Caspar Byers. He was able to go to his home.

The explosion caused excitement in the village and in Turtle Creek, as it was at first rumored that a score of children had been killed.

LEISHMAN ORDERS FLEET TO SALUTE AND LEAVE

Complete Agreement Reached With Turkey on All Questions in Dispute.

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

CONSTANTINOPLE, Aug. 14.—After prolonged pourparlers and considerable haggling on the part of the Turks a satisfactory solution of the American school question has been arrived at. This matter, which is the most important of the American demands, was settled by extending to American schools the same treatment as that accorded to schools under the protection of other powers. A settlement of other matters affecting American interests in Turkey of secondary importance has also been effected, and Minister Leishman has telegraphed to Rear Admiral Jewell, in command of the United States squadron sent to Smyrna, instructing him to salute the batteries on land and depart.

The sittings of the council of ministers at which settlement was agreed upon was a long one, and it was not until near its close that an agreement was reached. The delay in the settlement is believed to have been caused by the intervention of the palace functionaries, whose policy, in order to retain the sultan's favor, consists of combating the rights and privileges of foreign subjects.

A RECORD OF PLEDGES KEPT

CANDIDATES' PAST

Sketches of Lives Given—Advance in Wages Greater Than in Cost of Living.

PROBING OF POSTAL FRAUDS

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—Tariff, prosperity, labor wages and prices, trusts, the Panama canal, Cuba and Cuban reciprocity, expansion and its results, the investigations of the postal and land frauds and punishments of offenders, rural free delivery, irrigation, the record of the Republican party and the record of Theodore Roosevelt, are the leading subjects discussed by the Republican campaign text book of 1904, which is just about to be issued. The following is a synopsis of the book prepared by the Republican campaign committee:

The four great facts which justified the Republican party in asking the support of the public in 1900 were: First, that its pledges of 1896 had been redeemed; second, that prosperity had come as a result; third, that developments since 1896 had shown the fallacy of the principles upon which the Democracy then appealed for public support; and, fourth, the conditions which had come to other parts of the world and their people as a result of promises fulfilled by the Republican party in the United States.

Assertions Fully Justified.

These assertions made in the text books of 1900 have been fully justified by the added experiences of another four years. The pledges of 1896 and those made in 1900 have been redeemed. The protective tariff has been restored, the gold standard made permanent, Cuba freed and given independence, the Panama canal assured under the sole ownership and control of the United States, a department of commerce and labor established, rural free delivery given to millions of agricultural community, the laws of the proper regulation of trusts and great corporations strengthened and enforced, prosperity established; commerce developed, labor protected and given ample employment and reward, intelligence, prosperity and good government established in distant islands and the flag of the United States made the emblem of honor in every part of the world.

All of these great accomplishments have been the work of the Republican party. In each of them it has met the discouragement, the opposition and hostilities of the Democracy. It is upon this additional evidence of the past four years, evidence that the Republican party is the party of progress and Democracy the party of inaction, retardment, and fault-finding, that the Republican party again confidently appeals for public support in the presidential and congressional elections of 1904.

Two Administrations Covered.

Following this introduction, the book takes in consecutive order the tariff, prosperity, trusts and industrial combinations, labor wages and prices, the advance in prices, the money question, the record of Theodore Roosevelt, the Panama canal, Cuba and Cuban reciprocity, expansion and its results, the record of the Republican party, the work of the departments under the McKinley and Roosevelt administrations, merchant marine, pension and pension laws, rural free delivery, irrigation, public lands, and numerous other subjects liable to be discussed during the coming campaign.

Following the tariff chapter is a discussion of prosperity, showing the growth in manufacturing, in wealth and in general prosperity, the growth of savings bank and general bank deposits, the increased demand for the articles required in manufacturing, and enlarged increase of the articles manufactured, the increase in agricultural products and in prices of farm products and the value of the factory to the farmer.

The chapter on trusts discusses the legislation enacted for their regulation, the record of the two parties on the subject, the existence of trusts in other countries and especially in those having no protective tariff, the relation of trusts to employment, wages and prices, the enforcement of law for the proper control and regulation of organizations of this character during the various administrations and especially that of President Roosevelt, the inefficiency of state legislation, the efficiency of the national legislation enacted and enforced by the Republican party, the Northern Securities case, the work of the department of justice and of the department of commerce and labor and of the relation of the trusts to the nomination of the Democratic candidate for president.

Considered With Frankness.

Every feature of the prospective campaign discussed is considered with frankness and all available information bearing upon these subjects presented in such condensed form as is necessary for a publication of this character. The claim that the protective tariff increases prices is met with facts and figures from the economic history of the United States and other countries, which fully show the inaccuracy of the charge, while the relative prosperity of countries having low and protective tariffs respectively is also shown from official figures. The chapter on labor, wages and prices is especially interesting and important since it comprises figures from the recent investigation of the bureau of labor of the department of commerce and labor. It shows beyond a question, as a result of thorough official investigation, that the advance in wages during the past decade has been greater than the advance in cost of living, the figures being based upon retail prices, the prices which the public must pay for the articles consumed, while it is also shown that the rate of wages now being paid in the United States is higher than ever have been paid in this or in any other country.

The book also contains a sketch of the life and work of Theodore Roosevelt and of Senator Fairbanks, a discussion of conditions in the island territories of the United States, the "prosperity which has come to them under our control, the growing commerce between those islands and the United States," etc., a discussion on the "remarkable success of our diplomacy in the east," a series of chapters on the work of each of the executive departments during the terms of Presidents McKinley and Roosevelt, and a chapter on the investigations into the postal frauds.

Girl Admits Killing Babes.

ANCIENT DWELLER OF THE EARTH

Fossil triceratops, found by a Carnegie expedition, as it looked when in life. The triceratops attained a length of 25 or 30 feet and his stature overtopped that of the largest elephant. His head was over six feet in length and five feet across. He was a reptile in some respects resembling the modern lizard, and existed in later Mesozoic times. He was a vegetarian and disappeared from the face of the earth tens of thousand of years ago, and it is rarely that his remains are exhumed. This specimen was found by a Carnegie museum expedition in Wyoming.

KIDNAPER GANG IS SURROUNDED

Cordon of Officers About the Quarry Where Italians and Boy Are Thought Hidden.

ATTACK DUE AT DAYBREAK

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—At midnight tonight New York and Hoboken detectives were forming a cordon around a quarry near West Hoboken, where in a small hut Tony Mannino, the kidnaped Brooklyn boy, was believed to be confined. Vito Laduca, the butcher, and several other men were believed by the police to be concealed in the quarry with the missing boy. If the information in the possession of Capt. Rooney proves to be correct, the child may be restored to his parents tomorrow morning at 8 o'clock.

At daylight the detectives expect to move on the quarry. The danger of some of the gang escaping during a fight in the dark or of the boy being killed in the scrimmage induced the police to avoid a night attack. But the spot is well guarded and it is believed that there is no possibility of escape for any members of the gang who may be there.

A woman, whose name the police will not divulge, said that on Friday she saw Laduca, whom she knows and a child whom she identified as Tony Mannino from a picture of the lad, crossing on a ferryboat that leads in the direction of Weehawken. She indicated a quarry that lies to the west of Hoboken as the place where the two had gone.

Capt. Rooney said today: "There are only two men that I want now, Laduca and Alverara Sono, who, I believe, is the uncle of Cucozza. They are responsible for the kidnaping of the boy. And Laduca is the arch conspirator. If we can find him we shall not be long in locating the boy." Cucozza is a boy under arrest, who has given the police information.

Apparently the Manninos have decided to allow the police to continue the search without their assistance. The Mannino home was crowded today with visitors, and among them was one who, rumor said, was a man acting as a go-between, who was trying to arrange a settlement between the father and the kidnapers. It is believed Mannino has been assured no harm will come to the boy; that the money demand has been dropped, and that the only demand now is to call off the police.

Capt. Rooney declares Mannino cannot promise the gang immunity, and that he is under the impression that the men with whom the father has been in communication may know the whereabouts of the members of the gang, but not the child. The captain says the police will not stop until every man is sent to prison.

CUT HIS WIFE'S THROAT AND FOUGHT RESCUERS

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

BEAVER FALLS, PA., Aug. 14.—In the little borough of Eastville, adjoining this place, a desperate attempt was made by George Cox, a teamster, to kill his wife with a razor. He is now in the Beaver Falls jail, where he was placed after a fight. The woman is in the Beaver Valley hospital, suffering from a frightful gash across the throat. Her chances of recovery are slight.

Cox is alleged to have recently driven his wife and little children out of the house at midnight. They finally separated, the wife to have the house and furniture and keep the children. Papers to this effect were signed before Justice White. Today Cox visited his wife and tried to effect a reconciliation. She refused. It is charged that he then set fire to a bed and drew a razor, exclaiming: "I'll finish this business."

The woman fled to the home of Thomas Babel, a neighbor, with Cox in pursuit. He caught her in the Babel yard and began to hack at her throat. A little son, 12 years old, came running to the assistance of his mother with a shotgun in his hands. When about 50 feet away he raised the gun and fired.

Dr. LeRoy Townsend, hearing the screams of the woman, ran to her assistance. Cox turned on the doctor with the bloody razor in his hand and they closed. Both are powerful men, and a desperate struggle ensued. Cox was overpowering the physician when Thomas Babel appeared and seized the shotgun from the Cox boy's hands. When he attempted to shoot he found it empty. He then grasped a pick handle and with a well directed blow stretched Cox unconscious.

Arthur Evans and others tied Cox with a clothes line, while voices clamored, "Lynch him." All this time the Cox house was burning, and the neighbors were fighting the fire, which they finally extinguished. Preparations to lynch Cox were under way when an ambulance containing Chief of Police Strager of Beaver Falls came dashing up, and Cox was taken into custody.

Jacob Eiszler is Dead.

Jacob Eiszler, aged 71, a "forty-niner" and one of Sharpsburg's oldest residents, died at his home, 4 Third street, early yesterday morning. Mr. Eiszler was born in New York city and came to Sharpsburg in 1840. During the gold excitement of 1849 he went to California, where he spent eight years, returning in 1857 to Butler, Pa., where he married Miss Sarah Thompson. In 1866 he returned to Sharpsburg. He was a member of the Sharpsburg English Lutheran church and is survived by a widow, three daughters, Mrs. F. Miller of Ingram, Mrs. Edward Musselman, Seneca, N. Y.; Miss Bertha Eiszler of Sharpsburg, and four sons, William A. of Allegheny, and Samuel T., J. H. and Charles F. Eiszler of Sharpsburg; eight grandchildren, three sisters and one brother. Funeral services will be held at the family residence on Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

RUSSIA'S NAVAL POWER IS SHORN

Japan's Victories Now Make Her Mistress of Far Eastern Waters.

CZAR'S PLANS MISCARRIED

[Special Cable to The Gazette.]

LONDON, Aug. 14.—The fighting power of the Russian fleet in the far east is destroyed. Blow after blow has fallen upon it there, and in two great naval engagements the Port Arthur and Vladivostok squadrons have been reduced from formidable fighting units into shattered fragments.

Russia still has two fleets, that of the Baltic and that of the Black sea, but in view of the two latest disasters she will surely never attempt to send them into eastern waters. There Togo and Kamimura, with fleets practically intact, command the seas, and it would be the hopelessness of foolishness for Russia to dispatch more vessels into the smashing power of these two admirals.

The utter defeat of the Vladivostok squadron by Kamimura in the Korean straits reveals Russia's daring plans of the past week. It was impossible for the Russian Admiral Withoft to stay in Port Arthur with his ships as targets to be riddled by the besiegers' great guns, which now command the city and fortress, so it was determined they should make a dash for the open, preferring the chances of an engagement with the Japanese blockading squadron to the certainty of destruction in the harbor. At the same time the Vladivostok squadron was to steam southward and effect a junction with the escaping fleet.

That desperate plan has miscarried in both chapters. The sorties from Port Arthur resulted in the dispersal and nullification of Withoft's squadron and the death of the admiral in command.

The southward run of the Vladivostok squadron—all in ignorance of the dreadful fate that had befallen the Port Arthur fleet—was cut short by Admiral Kamimura, and in a fierce five-hour engagement one of the famous trio of cruisers was sunk and the other two sent flying back, seriously damaged, to Vladivostok.

It is not known whether Admiral Skrydloff was on board either of the Vladivostok squadron, but with his trinity of fighting ships disrupted and the dead Withoft's fleet gone, these have been sorry days for Russia on the sea.

PLATT CONFIDENT OF REPUBLICAN SUCCESS

Declares Roosevelt Will Carry New York, Without Which Democrats Cannot Win.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

HIGHLANDS HILL, N. Y., Aug. 14.—"I am absolutely confident that the Republican national ticket will be elected, President Roosevelt will carry New York and without that the Democrats cannot win."

This prediction was made by Senator Thomas C. Platt in his pretty summer home, overlooking Lake Cromwell, tonight. The senator is taking an active interest in this presidential and state campaign, despite the fact that he has shifted his summer quarters from Manhattan beach to this picturesque place.

"The ticket could not be better," Senator Platt said. "Roosevelt and Fairbanks will carry New York and they will be elected."

"Upon what do you base your confidence that Roosevelt will carry this state?" was asked.

"Because he will bring out all the Republicans and that is all that will be necessary," was the reply.

"What is the prospect in Connecticut and New Jersey?"

"Roosevelt will carry both of them, without a doubt."

"Do you think the Democrats have any chance of carrying Indiana?"

"I do not know so much about the west, but I should say that they had no chance, as Indiana is the home of the Republican candidate for vice president. If Indiana goes Republican, Illinois surely will do so, too. I have not talked with anybody from Wisconsin since the Republican national convention, but there is an ugly feeling in that state and the outcome is doubtful."

TWENTY-SIXTH ATTEMPT TO DIE PROVES SUCCESSFUL

Pretty Girl of Good Family Kills Herself—Seemed to Have Mania for Self-Destruction.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

MILWAUKEE, WIS., Aug. 14.—Cecil Davis, a pretty girl of good family at Cadillac, Mich., was successful today in her 26th attempt to commit suicide. Cecil seemed to have a mania for self-destruction and had tried all the routes to the grave that a careful perusal of the newspapers would suggest. Carbolic acid, laudanum, strychnine and rat poison were the common means she used, but recently she began trying a new series of attempts. First she jumped off an open bridge into the river, but was saved against her will. Again she tried falling on a dagger, but her aim was not good and she only pricked her neck. Then she took acid in a glass of beer and recovered.

Usually she would decide she did not wish to die after taking poison and would go to the Emergency hospital herself, but more than once she was found by the police, groaning on the street.

ARRIVAL OF THE HEIR

IRWIN, PA., Aug. 14.—(Special.)—The Russian colony here today celebrated the arrival of an heir to the throne in their native land. Heinlocks Row, the home of the Russian miners, was in gala attire. The celebration began early and lasted late into the night. Dancing, singing and drinking to the health of the heir and his parents made up the celebration.

Postal Clerks Who Are Honored By Their Fellows

The postoffice clerks held a reunion and picnic on Saturday at Calhoun park under the auspices of the Pittsburgh Postoffice Clerks' Beneficial association. There were field sports, dancing and a baseball game between married and single men.

The success of the affair was greatly due to the excellent work of the executive committee. The illustration shows four of these energetic members, reading from left to right as follows—S. A. Bodkin, C. L. Brooks, chairman; E. B. Bennett and J. J. Baker.

These four are also delegates to the national convention of the postal clerks, which will be held in St. Louis. This is the first time the local association has had such a large representation of delegates.

ADMIRAL KAMIMURA IS NOW A VICTOR

the Russian Vladivostok squadron and unable to prevent the raids of these vessels.

The raid conducted by the Vladivostok squadron in July was extremely expensive to Japan and not only was retaliation tempting but it was demanded by commercial interests. The navy, however, grimly refused to make a diversion and stuck to Port Arthur. It was confident that the harbor would soon be untenable for the Russian warships, that it would eventually get a fair fight in an open sea, away from the Russian land batteries, and that the Japanese would win. These calculations of the navy were correct, and the Russians, with chances even, have been hopelessly defeated.

Japanese guns dominate the dock yards at Port Arthur, and in view of this fact, it would seem to be impossible again to make seaworthy or fightable the Russian battleships which have returned there. It is probable that the Russian battleship Czarevitch will disarm at Tsing-Chou.

The best possible naval force that Russia can now concentrate at Vladivostok is four cruisers.

Russia Loses Another Officer.

CHEFOO, Aug. 14.—Capt. Matousevitch, the late Rear Admiral Withoft's chief-of-staff, who was wounded during the Japanese attack on the battleship Czarevitch, has died of his wounds.

Only one Russian torpedo boat remains at Tsing-Chou with the Czarevitch. The Japanese demanded the departure of the Czarevitch, but the governor of Tsing-Chou replied that the vessel would remain, but would be dismantled.

The Japanese consul has ordered all steamers bound for Japanese ports to postpone their departure.

On the night of August 13 two Japanese torpedo boats, without lights, entered Chefoo harbor and inspected the shipping. They then joined two other torpedo boats and a cruiser standing outside the harbor, and all put to sea.

Grosovoi May Dismantle.

SHANGHAI, Aug. 14.—The 48 hours granted the Russian torpedo boat destroyer Grosovoi expired at 2 o'clock this afternoon. At that hour she had not disarmed. The toatai of Shanghai has repeated his demand that the vessel leave or disarm. The probabilities are that she will disarm.

The hospital ship Mongolia, which left Port Arthur August 10 with women and children on board, has not been spoken.

The steamer Gaelic has sighted the Russian cruiser Novik between Shanghai and Nagasaki, proceeding south. The Novik sought refuge at Tsing-Chou, but left there at the expiration of 24 hours and has not been spoken.

It is expected that the Russian protected cruiser Askold, which arrived at Woo-Sung on August 12, will dock tonight. A correspondent of the Associated Press went to the Askold today for the purpose of inspecting her, but at first it seemed impossible to obtain permission to do so. The sentry at the gangway answered every request to come on board with a stern refusal. Finally appeal was made to Capt. Grammatichkoff, who, with the consent of Capt. Seiberstein, gave permission for the correspondent to come on board.

Askold Men Not Disheartened.

On reaching the deck of the cruiser everything was found to be in confusion, and it was noticed that no attempt had been made to put things in shipshape. There were many evidences of a hurried flight and a running fight. The correspondent had expected to notice a universal depression and gloom on board the warship, but, on the contrary, he soon became aware of a remarkable spirit of cheerfulness and confidence on all sides. The members of the crew generally appeared to be in good spirits.

Many of the men on board the Askold spoke highly of the bravery of the Japanese and of their readiness to fight. There have been no misgivings as to the ultimate result of the present conflict, however, and this in spite of the disastrous first six months.

They consider it impossible for "great Russia" to succumb before "little Japan." They say that for every man who dies another comes out; that for every ship lost another will immediately come over the sea, and that ultimate victory is certain. It was surprising to find men on the Askold who knew French, English and German. When questioned concerning the present losses, they simply answered: "It is fate," and say they do not consider it hard to die for their country.

Vessel is Riddled.

Twelve men and one officer were killed on board the Askold and about 50 men were wounded. The badly wounded have been taken to hospitals, and the captain of the cruiser has told them to be ready to sail in a week's time. Upon noticing the condition of the Askold, which has nearly 200 shell holes in her, it is difficult to understand why her casualty list was not greater.

The work of repairing the cruiser is now proceeding night and day. In 10 days' time she can be sufficiently patched up to render her seaworthy, but full repairs would take much longer. Her first and third funnels are riddled with machine gun bullets and the base of another funnel has been almost entirely blown away at the deck by a big shell. The after funnel was cut in two and telescoped on itself, and the remains of it are held up now by guy ropes only. An 8-inch armor piercing shell entered the Askold forward on her starboard side, about two feet above the water line and lodged in a coal bunker. A 12-inch shell exploded in her starboard hammock netting amidships, fragments riddling and destroying four metallic lifeboats. Another 12-inch shell entered a stateroom on the starboard quarter, cut its way across the deck and exploded in the officers' quarters, on the port side of the vessel, destroying everything within reach.

The deckhouse on the superstructure under the forward bridge was riddled by the fragments of a shell, which exploded in the forward funnel. All the searchlights on the cruiser are damaged beyond repair. The torpedo netting was cut up by a shell and is practically useless. The cruiser's steering gear is supposed to have been damaged, but her engines and boilers are in practically good condition.

The Russian torpedo boat destroyer, Grozovoi, which also reached here on August 12, has no serious injuries, but she is inexpressibly dirty and in a neglected condition. She was towed up the river today and took a position alongside the dismantled Russian gunboat Mandjur.

Must Repair and Get Out.

BERLIN, Aug. 14.—The foreign office informs the Associated Press that if the Russian ships which put into Tsing-Chou at the entrance to Kiao-Chou bay, the German concession on the Shan-Tung peninsula, do not make repairs and leave that port within the time allotted them they will be detained there for the rest of the war. The commanders of the Russian vessels have been notified to that effect.

The length of the time limit decided upon has not been disclosed here. The repairs to the ships must be made under strict surveillance by the German authorities, as a guarantee that the work shall be confined to the making of the vessels seaworthy.

Powerful Menace Removed.

LONDON, Aug. 14.—Russia's latest naval disaster has a peculiar interest for Englishmen, as it was apprehension caused by the enormous power of the sisters Rurik and Rossia, two of the vessels which composed the Vladivostok squadron, which led the British government to build the monster cruisers Terrible and Powerful. The latest details, showing that the fighting between Vice Admiral Togo's fleet and the Port Arthur fleet began at a distance of about four miles, are held to prove the necessity for the possession of big ironclads. The fleets appear never to have approached each other closer than a distance of 3,800 yards.

The Chefoo correspondent of the Daily Mail, under date of August 13, says:

"Three Russian torpedo boat destroyers left Tsing-Chou last night and returned there this morning, thus evading the 24-hour limit. Viceroy Yuan Shan Kai refuses to accept the resignation of Admiral Sah over the Ryeshitelni affair."

According to the Daily Mail's Shanghai correspondent, the Japanese consul claims the cruiser Askold as a prize.

The Pekin correspondent of the Times says that the escape of the Russian men-of-war to Tsingchou causes no surprise in the Chinese capital. It has long been believed, rightly or wrongly, he says, that a secret understanding existed between Russia and Germany providing for this contingency.

"TAKE CITADEL AT ANY COST," IS THE ORDER

attacks on Port Arthur during the last few days. It was stated, on August 10, that the Japanese had before Port Arthur 100,000 men and 450 guns, of which 50 are howitzers.

Whether Port Arthur stands or falls, it will cost the Japanese enormously. It is estimated that they will lose 30,000 men if they take the fortress, but if they do take it, it will be serious for the Russian army, as it will result in the releasing of a majority of the Japanese southern force for an advance on Liao-Yang. The Japanese seem to be utterly reckless in the expenditure of both men and ammunition.

Russian advices from Port Arthur, which come in at intervals, say that the garrison is nerved for a most desperate resistance, and is ready to be annihilated before surrendering.

It is reported that the Japanese are occupying Yin-Kow with a small force, but that a column of 3,000 is moving up the valley of the Liao river.

JAPANESE NEAR MUKDEN.

Chinese Troops Are Massing Ominously on the Boundaries of the Neutral Territory.

SIN-MIN-TUN, Aug. 14.—(Special Cable.)—Reports received today indicate that the Japanese are pressing through the valley of the Hun toward Mukden, and are now in considerable numbers in the neighborhood of Chang-Tan. This is thought by some military men to presage a movement against the Russians at Yen-Tai, where there are valuable mines which the Russians consider it important to hold at the present time.

Attention is again being called to the great numbers of Chinese troops now massing along the boundaries of the neutral territory and their presence is considered ominous, although the government maintains that their only purpose is to guard against possible infractions of neutrality by either Russia or Japan.

anticipating its escape during the night, if possible, to attack merchant vessels entered Chefoo with the two destroyers and found the Russian destroyer Ryeshitelni remaining unarmed.

Lieut. Terashima was then sent to the Russian vessel with a message to the effect that the Japanese commander expected him to leave by dawn or surrender.

Russian Was Defiant.

The Russian commander refused to comply with either demand and while the conference was still going on he was heard instructing his men to blow up the ship. At the same time he caught hold of Lieut. Terashima and threw him overboard. Our interpreter was next thrown overboard by some Russian sailors, and others among the sailors showed signs of resistance.

While this was progressing, the forward magazine exploded, killing some of our men. We then captured the destroyer and retired.

Our loss by the explosion was one man killed and four men mortally wounded. Lieut. Terashima, our interpreter, and nine others of the boarding party were wounded.

No Concern of France.

LONDON, Aug. 14.—Information reaching here from Paris is to the effect that the foreign office is not yet able to state the position which France will take regarding the seizure of the Russian torpedo boat destroyer Ryeshitelni at Chefoo by Japanese ships. It is pointed out that the matter is one between Russia and Japan, in which France is not directly interested. Should Russia protest against the seizure, France will act as an intermediary, in accordance with the agreement by which she is charged with the care of Russian interests in Japan during the war, but this attitude will depend entirely on that of the mikado's government, which it is impossible to foresee. For instance, should Japan throw the blame for the affair upon a naval officer, apologize and give up the Ryeshitelni, the matter would simply be dropped.

CHEFOO, Aug. 14.—(Midnight.)—Despite Chinese Admiral Sah's statement to the contrary, the Associated Press learns positively that two Japanese torpedo boats entered the harbor last night while two cruisers and three torpedo boat destroyers remained outside. One of the torpedo boats communicated with the Chinese admiral. The Russian consulate fears an attack on the wireless telegraph plant here, which is reported to have been working perfectly. The Japanese torpedo boats covered that vicinity.

It is certain that the Japanese squadron is not far away, maintaining the blockade against the Russians. The Japanese consul in an interview said that his nation is fighting for its existence and cannot consider the nice points of Chinese neutrality which he declared had been so often violated by the Russians.

Germany Will Support Washington.

BERLIN, Aug. 14.—(Copyright Cable.)—A cable dispatch from New York, announcing that the Washington government will enter an energetic protest against the breach of international usage by the Japanese in the neutral port of Chefoo, has given great satisfaction here, and the United States government can count on firm support from Wilhelmstrasse.

All That Was Left of Admiral Withoft After Shell Blew Him to Pieces.

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 14.—(Copyright Cable.)—Survivors of the Czarevitch state that Admiral Withoft was torn to pieces by a shell and his body was swept overboard, only one of his legs being found. They describe the scene as infernal, and say men turned gray from their experience.

Admiral Withoft said before he was killed: "This is our last fight, men, be brave."

The orders of the officers could hardly be heard for the roar of the guns.

Empress Suggested Refuge.

CHEFOO, Aug. 15.—(1 a. m.)—It is stated here that the empress of Japan suggested that the Japanese arrange with the Russians for the safe departure of women and children and non-combatants to Dalny.

POLITICAL DEBATE FINALLY RESULTS IN A RIOT

Many Persons Bruised Before Police Reach the Scene—Two Arrests Are Made.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—Police reserves were called out today to quell a riot in Stone and Pitkins avenues, East New York, the result of a political discussion as to the relative fitness of the presidential candidates. The argument was started by several men and waxed so warm that blows were struck. Friends of the men interfered, with the result that the political debate terminated in a riot, in which many persons were badly bruised before the police reached the scene.

After dispersing the people in the streets the police arrested two men. They were later arraigned in the Gates avenue court and held for examination.

ANGRY POLICEMAN SHOOTS HIS WIFE

Indignant Because She Talked to Another Man at a Fire.

TARENTUM SUNDAY TRAGEDY

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

TARENTUM, PA., Aug. 14.—Night Policeman Harry Stump of Tarentum shot his wife early yesterday morning and is now under arrest, awaiting the result of the woman's injuries. Mrs. Stump had just come home from a visit with friends in New Kensington. There had been a fire at Creighton, and it is stated that Stump, who was there, was angered by seeing his wife talking to a man while she was watching the flames.

Stump, it is alleged, came to his home at Tarentum and waited for his wife to appear. When she arrived he first tried to frighten her by saying that he would arrest her, it is said. It is alleged that he then told his two boys, Howard, aged 10, and James, aged 12, to get out of the road as he was "going to fix her this time." The shot, which was fired from a 44-calibre revolver, entered the woman's right cheek and lodged in the brain. It is not believed that she can recover.

SHIPBUILDING COMPANY PROMOTERS SUED BY ODELL

Governor Begins Proceedings to Recover the Amount of His Investment, More Than $125,000.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—Gov. Odell, who is said to have lost more than $125,000 in the "promotion" of the United States Shipbuilding Company, has begun suit at Newburg against the men who organized the project to recover the amount of his investment with interest. The governor, who is at Long Branch, declined to discuss the matter today, but it is known that the suit was begun two weeks ago, and that it involves sensational charges. John W. Young, J. T. Boothroyd, J. J. McCook, Alvin W. Krech and the Mercantile Trust Company are said to be the defendants named.

Among those familiar with the dealings of the shipbuilding company it is said the governor was not approached by the promoters, but went to them and asked to be "let in." As he was rather late, he was told that he could not have as many bonds as he wanted, but finally he was put down for 200. When it came to paying the calls, however, he paid for only 188 and that was the number allotted to him. His stock, however, was put on a 200 basis, and as the stock was worthless when he took up his bonds, no objection was made to his taking all the stock he wanted, and he took 1,000 shares. It is now said that his suit charges the promoters with having converted to their own use about $2,000,000, which, according to the prospectus under which he signed his name, was to have gone to the company.

RIVAL MACHINIST UNIONS MEET FOR AMALGAMATION

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 14.—Representatives of the International Association of Machinists and the International Association of Allied Metal Mechanics will be in conference here for several days this week, beginning tomorrow, relative to the amalgamation of the two organizations into one. The matter has been voted favorably upon, and it is understood the principal obstacle to formal union is the retention of a name, both associations desiring its own to be the name of the combined body. The machinists number 80,000 and the metal mechanics 20,000 workmen.

REFUSE TO PAY EXPENSES FOR BRINGING MURDERERS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—(Special.)—The news that Detectives McQuaide and Kelly will present a bill of $2,000 for bringing back Kovovick and Pattrovick from England has caused surprise. The county commissioners today say that they offered a reward of $1,000 and made no agreement to pay any expenses relative to the capture and conviction of the criminals. They say that they will not pay it, which means that there will probably be litigation. District Attorney Owen C. Underwood thought that the question of expenses was up to the county commissioners.

ANOTHER REFORM FOR ALLEGHENY

Orders Have Been Given to Arrest All Street Loafers, Both Men and Women.

TWENTY CAPTURED AND FINED

Reform has again overtaken Allegheny, this time in the form of a crusade against "rubber-necks." That is the name given to street loafers by the police, who have orders from Supt. Campbell to arrest men who, singly or in groups, have the habit of parading Federal and other streets to the annoyance of pedestrians. Magistrate Harkins had 20 of this species of public nuisance before him yesterday morning at Central station, and each was fined $5 and costs or 30 days to the workhouse.

The toleration of this pest has been the subject of considerable complaint from the respectable residents of the North Side since the present administration assumed office, and on several occasions half-hearted attempts have been made to break up the practice. These were short-lived, and during the present summer months the numbers and operations of those who ogle women, from city hall to Robinson street, have increased to such an extent that demands have been made of Supt. Campbell that he take measures to rid the city of this nuisance. Innumerable instances have been cited where respectable women have been insulted or followed almost to their own door-steps by the disreputable beaux who force their unwelcome attentions upon any woman whose appearance attracts their attention.

The policemen patrolling Federal street got orders yesterday morning to enforce the "move on" ordinance passed by councils years ago for the sole purpose of preventing just such practices as are now engaging the activities of the police bureau. The measure makes it an offense to congregate on thoroughfares and provides a penalty. The order of Supt. Campbell was sent to the stations in Woods Run and Perry street, and resulted in the streets presenting a more Sabbath-like appearance yesterday than for years. Beaver avenue, which on Sundays usually has a holiday look, was as quiet yesterday as the street of a village on the seventh day. And Ohio, Chestnut and Federal streets had a more decorous aspect than has been evident there for a long time.

The order is also directed against dissolute women, who are more numerous in Allegheny at present than for a decade. The police instructions were carried out yesterday as a warning that will be followed by arrests as soon as the order is generally known. Those who got hearings yesterday morning were those whose predilection for the "rubber-neck" habit is known to the officers on the downtown beats. Scores of others heard the orders from the police and were informed that no second warning would be given. One woman landed in the lockup after ignoring the tip given her. She was fined and cautioned not to appear again on a similar charge unless she wished to spend a long time in the workhouse. The order, it is understood, is to remain in force permanently until the advent of cold weather shall reduce the practice to a minimum.

TAYLOR ELECTED MARSHAL.

Completing the Arrangements for the Labor Day Parade—Iron and Glass Workers' Division Organized.

The committee of the iron and glass workers' division of the Labor day parade yesterday elected officers for the parade September 5. John Taylor of the Amalgamated Association of Iron and Steel Workers is marshal; George Liffert, of the Flint Glass Workers, adjutant general, and Edward Winters of the Window Glass Workers, chief of staff. The organizations of this division will appear in line of parade as follows: Glass Blowers' association, Tin Workers' Protective association, Iron and Steel Workers, Flint Glass Workers, Window Glass Workers. Chairman John Ferman and Secretary Thomas Blackburn of the Labor day committee said there will be about 2,000 men in this division of the parade.

Frank Curran, chief marshal of the Labor day parade, will hold a meeting with the division marshals Thursday night at the rooms of the Knights of Labor at 535 Smithfield street for the purpose of arranging for the formation of the parade and to agree on a uniform for the marshals.

ARMED MEN ARRESTED.

All Persons Carrying Weapons Will Be Taken by the City Police.

Superintendent of Police Alexander Wallace is determined to break up the practice of men and boys carrying revolvers and other weapons. The police throughout the city were yesterday instructed to arrest all persons suspected of having revolvers.

As a result of these orders, three Italians were picked up in the downtown district last night and lodged in Central station as suspicious persons. They gave their names as Peter Rake of Turtle Creek, Thomas Stutt and Harry Bussene of Webster avenue.

Motorman Was Badly Hurt.

Edward Speer, a motorman on a Pittsburgh, McKeesport & Conellsville car, was struck on the head while helping Conductor Ford to eject two rowdies from the car yesterday afternoon near Boston. He was unconscious for an hour. He was taken to the McKeesport hospital and later removed to his home in Boquet street, McKeesport. He is suffering from concussion of the brain and his condition is critical.

Threw Beer Glasses.

Leon Pofscavige, arrested Saturday in a saloon at Butler and Thirty-fourth streets for hurling beer glasses at pedestrians, was fined $25 and costs yesterday.

PLAN TO CAPTURE LESLIE'S NEW JOB

Citizens Scheme to Elect Chalfant's Successor on Workhouse Board.

SUPERINTENDENCY AT STAKE

The Citizens leaders are planning to fill the vacancy on the county workhouse board which has been caused by the death of George Chalfant. The workhouse board is now equally divided between the Republicans and Citizens, two on each side, and the Citizens are endeavoring to elect a new superintendent of the workhouse. It is their intention, if possible, to deprive of the position A. H. Leslie, who was elected by the workhouse board in June, but who has not taken the position, and who declares he will not take it until after the general election in November.

President Wightman of select council yesterday received a letter from Councilman John F. Steel, who is in Atlantic City. Steel is one of the two Citizens members of the workhouse board and he writes that he will return to Pittsburgh in a few days to take steps to elect a new superintendent of the workhouse.

"Steel claims that the workhouse is without a superintendent," said Wightman. "He says that when William Hill's resignation was accepted by the workhouse board in June that the place then became vacant. It was filled by the election of A. H. Leslie but as Leslie has refused to take charge the position has remained vacant. Under these conditions Steel objects to either Hill or Leslie drawing any salary for the time since Hill resigned. The two Citizens members of the board are Steel and Thomas B. Riter. The two remaining Republicans are John A. Bell and John W. Crawford.

"This makes a tie but Steel believes that with the addition of Mayors Hays and Wyman to the prison board that a Citizen can be elected to the vacancy on the workhouse board caused by the death of Mr. Chalfant. I believe, myself, that the Citizens can elect their man. Leslie is certainly not entitled to the position when he has failed to take it and does not propose to take it until six months after his election. The superintendent is only elected for a year and if Leslie is permitted to take charge in November the year will be half gone."

The retention of William Hill as superintendent was the issue in the election of the members of the workhouse board last spring and as the old board was in favor of retaining Hill the board was re-elected. Hill was scarcely re-elected for another year when he resigned in favor of Leslie. His resignation was promptly accepted and Leslie was chosen at the same session of the board, although Steel proposed the name of W. B. Murray, former county commissioner, who claimed that John W. Crawford had promised him his vote.

Crawford, however, with John A. Bell and Chalfant, voted for Leslie. It was supposed at the time that Leslie would resign his seat in select council immediately and enter upon his new duties. Instead of doing so he stated that he will not resign until fall so that his successor may be elected at the general election in November. He said this was the understanding between Hill and himself.

Fined for Carrying Revolvers.

Henry Taylor and Aaron Johnson, negroes, were each fined $50 and costs or 60 days to the workhouse yesterday. They were arrested on suspicion of knowing something about the recent hold-ups. Both carried formidable guns.

Talked Against the Saloons.

"Saloons—Who Is to Blame for Their Existence?" was the subject of a talk at the Banksville Baptist church last evening by John Thresher, president of the Pittsburgh Christian Patriotic association.

Negress Sent to Jail.

Alma Fleming and Anna Bell, a negress, were arrested in the rear of 208 Grant street. The Fleming woman accused the negress of robbing her. The negress was fined $25 and costs or 20 days to jail.

MOTORIST MUST FACE A HEARING

Officer Alleges He Was Skimming the Streets at 30 Miles an Hour.

CAPTURED AFTER A CHASE

The first test case for violation of the automobile speed ordinance will be heard this morning at the East End police station when Oliver Smith, a chauffeur employed by Banker Bros., will be called upon to appear for alleged fast running on July 29. Smith was arrested late on Saturday night after an exciting chase through the East End, which terminated when the fugitive was found hiding behind a sofa in his parents' home in Broad street.

According to the statement of Patrolman Thomas Wall, Smith, who is 15 years of age, crossed the car tracks at Center and South Highland at a speed of 30 miles an hour. The policeman hailed the chauffeur and ordered him to stop, but the next moment, he says, the machine scudded across the street and continued on at its terrific speed. The law provides that the maximum speed for automobiles shall be eight miles an hour within the city limits and that chauffeurs must obey orders of cornermen.

The policemen in the parks have been troubled more or less by daredevil motorists, but Smith's arrest is the first to be ordered for a direct violation of the speed ordinance. It probably will be carried to court. A warrant against Smith was sworn out on July 29, but he was not found until Saturday night, when Special Officer David Corbett overhauled him in a Penn avenue pool room.

Smith dropped his cue and rushed from a side door. Corbett followed close behind, pursuing the runaway down dark alleys and across back yards until he turned into his home in Broad street. The family was aroused and the light turned on, revealing Smith behind a sofa. In the chase Corbett had lost his hat and revolver. Smith was released on bail for a hearing this morning.

PARAPHRASE OF A NOVEL INDIRECT CAUSE OF DEATH

Note Written in Fun, Worried a Mother Who Was Killed on Her Way to Get Son's Advice.

The paraphrase of a paragraph of a novel was the indirect cause of the death of Mrs. Kate Carey, and not suicide, as at first supposed.

Mrs. Carey was killed by a street car at Penn avenue and Eighth street last Friday morning. It was believed she had thrown herself under the car, because of the following note found on her:

Paul—Forgive me when you read this, for I will be dead. I can't help doing this, as I was awfully unhappy. You have been very good to me, and I guess you would be yet, only I can't be second. Take me to Kane to bury me, and then forget me, as I was only a crank.

This note was supposed to have been left for a son, O. Paul Carey, who lives at Kane, Pa. This son formerly lived in Allegheny with his mother, but a few months ago he married and removed to Kane. The mother remained in Allegheny.

Mrs. Kate Carey was buried at Punxsutawney yesterday. Mrs. Paul Carey, daughter-in-law of the dead woman, attended the funeral and was shown the note. She at once recognized it as one which she herself had written last April. She says it is a paraphrase of the last paragraph in a novel she had been reading. She had substituted the words "Paul" and "Kane" for the ones in the text. Although it had been written purely in fun, Paul had snatched the note from his wife and placed it in the small outside pocket of his coat.

The mother had evidently found the note among a lot of papers Paul discarded when he left Allegheny and went to Kane to live. The mother, not knowing that the note was merely a joke, was exercised over it. Three other sons, Charles, Homer and Ralph, were leaving Pittsburgh for Baltimore Friday morning, and Mrs. Carey was on her way to the station to tell them of her discovery and obtain their advice before they took a train south, when she was struck by a street car and killed.

Mrs. Paul Carey is prostrated by the tragic results of her joke. All the members of the Carey family declare positively that the note is not in the mother's handwriting.

A New Department Opens Today—Another department added to our already large store, that of Optical Goods. You will find it conveniently situated, rear of Main Aisle, West Store. The department will be under the supervision of Mr. C. V. Wilkerson, a graduate of one of the best Optical schools of the country, and an optician of more than twenty years' experience. The best approved instruments and methods known to optical science will be used for the examination of eyes and the fitting of glasses. In addition to carrying glasses of all kinds, we will grind glasses in any combination desired, and will do every kind of Optical Repair Work.

Anent the New Dress Weaves for Autumn Wear.

They are coming in almost daily from all quarters of the globe. So many different weave varieties and color combinations for the Autumn of 1904 that we couldn't begin to go into detail and tell you about them all at one writing. So we'll treat of the matter serially from time to time, which we daresay will be best for all concerned, as it will give you time to properly digest the news.

Some of the numbers in colored woolens:

New Rain-Proof Cloths, hairline check effects, navy, brown, oxford and tan, 50 inches wide. This is just the right fabric for the traveling suit or separate skirt. $1.20 a yard.

New Mannish Check Tailorings in navy, brown and oxford—we'll not attempt description—want you to see these for yourself—50 and 54 inches wide. $1.00 and $1.25 a yard.

New Plain Coverts, extra quality, in fashionable new shades. Covert as a dress material is making more friends every day. $1.50 a yard.

New Panama Suitings, among the most popular numbers in dress goods for Fall wear. Especially nice for separate skirts, traveling suits, etc., 43 inches wide, navy, royal and black, $1.00 a yard quality, special today at 68c a yard.

Extra width, 50 inches, special quality new Mohairs, navy, brown and royal. 50c a yard.

Unspotable Black Broadcloths.

Heretofore the great drawback in broadcloth, however fine the quality, was its tendency to spot. Therefore this unspotable black broadcloth means much to women.

Up until late years one had to have the cloth sponged and shrunken before being made up. This unspotable cloth obviates that difficulty, also. One of the largest foreign manufacturers of finest cloths has made this innovation in dress materials.

Rich and lustrous in finish, woven from the finest yarns, all ready for the needle and fully guaranteed not to spot or shrink. $2.00, $2.25, $2.50, $3.00 and $3.50 a yard.

Table Napery for Underprices.

A bargain in table linens is always apropos, and the economical housewife is always looking for them. Today is her opportunity, as it is also for boarding house keepers, hotelkeepers and restaurateurs, who like to save when replenishing their linen closets.

Napkins.

$2.75 a dozen for 22x22-inch Napkins, regular price $3.75.

$3.00 a dozen for 24x24-inch Napkins, regular price $4.00.

$5.00 a dozen for 27x27-inch Napkins, regular price $6.50.

No table linen to match, hence the reduced prices.

Tablecloths.

2x2-yard pattern Table Cloths, at $2.00 from $2.50.

2x2½-yd. pattern Table Cloths, at $2.50 from $3.25.

2x3-yard pattern Table Cloths, at $3.00 from $3.75.

Table Linens.

72-inch bleached Table Damasks, at 75c from $1.00 a yard.

72-inch bleached Table Damask, at $1.00 from $1.35 a yard.

72 and 81-inch bleached Table Damasks, at $1.25 from $1.50 a yard.

Extremely Low Prices for Sewing Machines.

It pays the woman who has her sewing done at home to own a first-class sewing machine. By this we mean one that turns out good work quickly, not a machine in a fancy case. If you think with us, note this comparison of prices, our prices and the general market prices on sewing machines, before you buy:

$18.00 for machines that list at $40.00.
$22.50 for machines that list at $50.00.
$25.00 for machines that list at $60.00.
$27.50 for machines that list at $65.00.

White Canvas Oxfords Are Scarce.

In fact, they are the scarcest article pertaining to women's belongings today. In nine cases out of ten 'tis the manufacturer who artfully makes this or that article a fad. In this case, however, the women established the fad themselves, thus taking the manufacturer unawares. Reason why white Oxfords are scarce.

However, this is to notify you that we received a fair supply late last week.

Sizes 2½ to 7, widths AA to D, price $3.50 a pair.

Germ-Proof Water Filters, $2.35.

A small price to pay to drink water that is germ-proof. Think of the illness that is caused by impure water, then study the buying of a filter from this standpoint.

This filter is known as No. 8 Natural Stone, Germ Proof.

Japanese Lanterns Down.

For the porch party or the lawn fete the decoration of Japanese lanterns is the proper thing. Look at this list and see how much below the usual prices are today:

60c Lanterns, 25c doz. $1.50 Lanterns, 60c doz.
$1 Lanterns, 40c doz. $2.00 Lanterns, 75c doz.

Silks for Early Autumn Buyers.

There couldn't be anything nicer for the Autumn silk suit, the Autumn shirtwaist suit or blouse than these silks which we are offering today for 65c a yard.

They are the latest products in Broche effects on Taffeta grounds. Of course the colorings are those sanctioned by Fashion.

SPECIAL—24-inch Crepe de Chine, a complete range of coloring, including white, ivory and cream, a quality far superior to the silks ordinarily sold at this price. 65c a yard.

Black Silk Bargains.

All silks that have been reduced in price, yet which will be worn throughout the Fall—for coats especially—

$1.50 quality Black Peau de Soie, 36 inches wide, $1.15 a yard.

$1.85 quality Black Peau de Soie, 36 inches wide, $1.50 a yard.

$1.25 quality Black Taffeta, 36 inches wide, $1.00 a yard.

$1.75 quality Black Taffeta, 36 inches wide, $1.50 a yard.

Late Imported Challis.

When the days are quite warm and the evenings just as cool as the day's warm, what nicer dress could a woman wear than that of Challis? It has many of the good points of the woolen gown, combined with those of the summer cotton dress.

Today we are pleased to inform the women of the greater city that our new Challis are just in—showing many beautiful designs and colorings which will be worn this Autumn. When we tell you that there are at least five hundred styles from which to select, you may better form an idea as to the extent of our assortment.

Find the Challis in the imported dress goods section, prices 35c, 50c, 55c and 60c a yard.

White Dress Goods at the Lowest Notch.

No store in the country bought more or finer white goods for the Summer of 1904 than we. No store sold more of these fine cottons, we venture to say. But now we are clearing up everything that is left over in this line. The prices will be the inducement for you to purchase in advance of your wants.

18c and 25c goods for 12½c a yard. This collection is made up of Dotted Swisses, Lawns and Madras.

20c to 35c goods, 15c a yard. Fine Dimities, Dotted Swisses, Broches and Oxfords in this lot.

50c to 75c goods for 25c a yard. Superfine Madras, Oxfords and Damasks make up this collection.

20 Per Cent Off on All Refrigerators.

We could not keep these prices from melting on account of the lateness of the season and our desire to put in new Fall goods. But we do assure you that there are no better refrigerators on the market for keeping the ice from melting and for first-class refrigerating service.

All our Refrigerators and Ice Boxes come under this reduction, including these celebrated makes: Jewett, Eddy and Opal.

Useful Things for the Household.

These are of value to everybody in one way or another. The hangers please the men, as they keep the wrinkles out of their belongings—please the women by keeping order.

Combination Coat and Pants Hangers, 25c.

Trouser Hangers, hold four pairs; use them to save expense of frequent pressing, 35c.

Polishing Irons, very special, at 50c.

Ginger Ale Bottle Holders, 25c Each.

The regular price is 50c, so the reduction is an exact half. A useful article to have around the house.

Monday, August 15, 1904.

The Gazette desires to call the attention of those of its readers who contemplate summer trips to the announcements of the many summer resort hotels published on page 10 of this issue.

The official report of the Japanese casualties in the naval battle shows that they were comparatively small, but among the wounded is an imperial prince. On the Russian side it will be remembered that a member of the imperial family, the Grand Duke Cyril, made a narrow escape when the Petropavlovsk was torpedoed and sunk, carrying down with her Admirals Makaroff and Molas, together with over 700 officers and men. Admiral Withoft, who was killed in the recent engagement, is the third Russian admiral who has lost his life in the war.

Charles M. Schwab shows a thorough knowledge of the subject when he discusses the need of men "who work with their hands." By this he does not infer that a good mental training is not needed, but he would add to the mental training increased facilities to become practical. Therefore he favors the industrial school, of which he has established a very excellent specimen at Homestead, and he promises that there will be others of the same kind to develop men and women who can do things with their hands. America is a nation of workers, and such schools as Mr. Schwab promises to endow will add greatly to the nation's further development. Mr. Schwab is well qualified to discuss this subject, as he is a product of the workshop, and he has worked to great purpose.

The presence of the American fleet at Smyrna has had the desired effect, and every demand made by the United States through Minister Leishman has been granted. The Turkish officials made every possible effort to escape granting some of the demands, but Minister Leishman stood solidly for every point, and under the circumstances the sultan's officials could do nothing but give in. The fleet may now sail away. Its mission is accomplished and we are once more on a friendly footing at the court of the sultan. Such a close to the incident was expected. The Turkish ministers are prone to delay every time there is a demand for action from a foreign power, but the sight of warships has a wonderfully accelerating effect upon them. Minister Leishman has gained every point of the American demands and he deserves great credit for his diplomatic victory, even though the presence of an American fleet was required to bring about such a result.

The Republican year book, now ready for issue, is the strongest possible argument for the continuation of Mr. Roosevelt in the executive mansion for another four years, as it gives a record of the things accomplished which were promised in the last two national platforms of the party. This record includes the continuation of the protective system, the gold standard made permanent, Cuba freed and given independence, the Panama canal assured under the sole control of the United States, a department of labor and commerce, rural free delivery, the regulation of great corporations, prosperity established, labor protected, commerce developed, and good government established in our distant island possessions. These are but a few of the benefits gained through the administrations of McKinley and Roosevelt, and on the record of what has been done the Republicans go before the people this year. And all these things were accomplished in the face of persistent opposition by the Democratic party, which now seeks at the polls the opportunity of reversing them.

The Japanese government has greatly improved its international standing by promptly ordering that the torpedo boat destroyer Ryeshitelni be returned to the custody of the Chinese government, thus disavowing the act of her naval officers who took the vessel after it had been dismantled and placed in the custody of a neutral power. This was the first breach of international law on the part of Japan, and her movements up to this time gave assurance that reparation would be immediately made. The restoration of the Ryeshitelni to Chinese officials relieves the situation of a very serious aspect. Otherwise China would have been compelled to take action against the nation that is now fighting her battles in Manchuria. It might also have caused the interference of the powers of Europe and thus cause Japan to lose the fruits of a victory now in her grasp. But every proceeding of the higher Japanese officials from the inception of the present trouble show that they are well versed in the laws of nations.

Democratic distress in the west has been added to by the interview of Henry Hawes of St. Louis, while en route to visit Judge Parker. Mr. Hawes declares that it will require hard work to hold the vote of the party in his section of the country, and there is even dissatisfaction in Missouri, whose Democratic loyalty is hardly questionable. The same conditions obtain in every western state, and even the most loyal Democrats admit that Mr. Roosevelt's popularity clogs Democratic party activity. The silver Democrats do not like the platform or the candidates, and the great prominence that the eastern reorganizers are taking in the campaign is another thing that is alienating the western Democrats from their party. On the other hand, except in Wisconsin, the Republicans in that section were never more united nor more enthusiastic. Mr. Hawes says that a big speaking campaign is needed and he wants Judge Parker to make a tour of the west. But that is just what Judge Parker will not do. He does not want to speak out.

A New England Demand.

Senator Lodge is between two fires on the tariff question. Circumstances have developed a strong feeling in New England in favor of reciprocal trade relations with Canada. New England is closer to Canada than she is to the other sections of the United States and the growth of our manufacturing industries has been such that she has to send her products through competitive points in reaching the home market. New England has begun to feel this natural disadvantage to such an extent that there is a growing demand for enlarged opportunities in foreign markets, of which Canada is nearest and most alluring. Petitions are in circulation setting forth that "the establishment of reciprocal trade relations with other countries, and especially with Canada and Newfoundland, our nearest neighbors, is of vital importance to the commercial welfare of the United States, and especially that of Massachusetts." In a recent speech Senator Lodge opposed this movement as unnecessary, declaring that omitting the exaggerated adjective "vital" he was already in full sympathy with the demand for reciprocity and in that position he was in full accord with Senator Hoar and the rest of the Republican congressmen from Massachusetts.

The American Economist, which is opposed to reciprocity, denounces this utterance as a surrender of party principle. The American Economist is, however, of the class of persons who know more about a machine than the man who made it. The national platform declares in favor of reciprocity whenever consistent with the principles of protection and the question of consistency is one that must be decided according to the circumstances of the case. Senator Lodge and the rest of the Massachusetts congressmen have full liberty to work out their scheme of reciprocity with Canada while remaining strictly orthodox in their party relations. The main difficulty with which they will have to contend it that the time appears to have passed by when an offer of reciprocity would be welcomed by Canada.

Meanwhile the interesting fact is to be noted that the demand within the Republican party for tariff readjustments grows out of the great success of the protective policy. Our industries have so prospered under that policy that they are seeking new worlds to conquer and are finding them. It is just because production has prospered under protection that new conditions have arisen which will affect future party action. Hence, tariff revision might come about even sooner from Republican success than it would from Democratic, but Republican revision will be for the purpose of confirming and extending the benefits of the protective policy, while Democratic revision would destroy them.

Petty Jealousy.

The action of the Canadian Amalgamated Association of Engineers in demanding the discharge of all American engineers employed in high salaried positions by a certain Canadian railroad will hardly have the effect of adding to the good feeling that now prevails between the two countries. This appeal has reached the government, which is asked to act under a law that is directly aimed at Americans, prohibiting the employment of aliens in certain lines of work. If the government takes action in this case the association will demand that all the American engineers employed by all Canadian railroads be discharged. It is to be hoped that the Canadian government will ignore the appeal. We are not inclined to be jealous of the thousands of bright young Canadians who have crossed the border and found good paying positions in America, and there are hundreds of Canadians in the United States to a dozen Americans in Canada. And if there are Americans more competent to do certain lines of engineering than are the Canadians, we are very glad to allow them to do the work that will help build up our northern neighbor. The only criticism we can find against the Canadian is his petty jealousy.

As to Free Passes.

The statement has several times appeared in City hall news that ward political influences are being exerted against consideration of public business unless there is a larger distribution of free railroad passes. On Saturday Mayor Hays, who is an old politician accustomed to the annoyances which accompany the job, complained of the persistence of the free pass hunters, declaring that he could not get on a street car or go to his office or to his home without being besieged by them.

There can be no basis for free pass demands of this character but that of political blackmailing. That railroad companies are subject to great loss on this account is well known, but no effective way has yet been discovered of dealing with it. It is a frequent subject of conference among railway officials, but the practice is so imbedded in political conditions that it is treated as something that cannot be eradicated, so that nothing can be done save to keep it within bounds.

Legislation aimed at the practice meets with little response. The railroad commission of the state of Texas recently issued an order requiring railroads in that state to keep a separate account of free transportation, classified so as to show its nature. The railroads demurred on the ground that the cost of the bookkeeping would be greater than the value of the free passes. And yet in other respects railroad bookkeeping has been reduced to such a science that the minutest detail of cost can be calculated to the cent. Of course nobody gives something for nothing and the extent to which free passes are distributed among politicians and their clients is an unerring symptom of the prevalence of corrupt government.

Result of the Sea Fight.

Details of the sortie of the Port Arthur fleet confirm our inference that the proceeding was forced by the success of the Japanese in approaching so close to the besieged fortress as to get the harbor in range of their heavy guns. A Tokyo dispatch states positively that the ships had been exposed to the fire of the Japanese batteries, the severity of which was constantly increasing. They were in danger of being pounded to pieces as they lay at their docks unable to make any reply, the mounting of their guns not admitting of such high angle fire as would be necessary to reach the Japanese batteries placed upon the heights overlooking the town and harbor. If the situation could have been endured, it was the obvious policy of the Russian admiral to defer his sortie until the approach of the Baltic fleet, which appears to be about ready to start. The dispositions which the Japanese would have had to make to deal with the Baltic fleet would have put matters on a more equal footing and would have greatly increased the chances of the Port Arthur fleet in running the blockade. It is evident that hard necessity dictated the Russian admiral's decision. The result was however terribly disastrous. He himself met the death of a brave man in the discharge of a perilous duty and the fleet is practically destroyed. Those which escaped to neutral ports must leave or else be dismantled and those which limped back into Port Arthur can find no safety there. Incidentally the Vladivostok squadron was hard hit. It has heretofore successfully avoided engagements, while rendering efficient service in operating against the movements of Japanese transports and of vessels engaged in Japanese commerce. It went into the straits of Korea to facilitate junction with the Port Arthur fleet, and was attacked by a Japanese squadron. The Russian armored cruiser Rurik was sunk and other cruisers are fleeing before the Japanese in a damaged condition.

The affair also confirms the reports that the Japanese have been pressing the attack upon Port Arthur, making heavy sacrifices in order to close in upon the fortress. This had become necessary, because if the siege should be protracted until the Baltic fleet should arrive in the east the Japanese position would become critical. The general unpreparedness of the Russian government for the war which its policy invited is shown not alone in Manchuria, but also in the long time it has taken to fit the Baltic squadron to take the sea. The summer is half gone and it is not started yet, although presumably all war vessels rated as effective should be ready for service at any time. In some respects the Baltic situation is even a greater blow to Russian prestige than the Manchurian situation, as it tends to indicate that her fleets and armies are largely mythical, existing upon paper, but not available when needed. All the world now sees that the fleets of the colossus are made of clay.

The fall of Port Arthur will be the natural sequel to the crushing of the Port Arthur fleet. It is clear that the crisis of the defense is now at hand. The orders given by the emperor of Japan to allow all non-combatants to leave Port Arthur point to an impending assault upon the position. Non-combatants have been leaving as fast as they could obtain transportation upon the Chinese junks which have been slipping in and out occasionally, but the imperial orders will permit non-combatants to pass through the lines to safe refuge at Dalny. The opportunity will doubtless be embraced, as it will be an advantage to the Russians to be rid of all mouths which do not strengthen the fighting line. It is a mark of magnanimity on the part of the Japanese to offer this assistance. So far there is nothing to indicate that the Russian commander has any intention of surrendering. It may be that when the fortress does fall it will go down in scenes of terrible carnage.

We will forget the Russian and Japanese soldiers long enough this week to remember some of the things our own veterans did in the 60s, when there was a war that was a war. And they will have a great time in Boston.

The Allegheny graft investigation thus far would indicate that the scapegoat has been found. The investigators are also very careful to guard the public morals by keeping the details secret.

Since half the Russian convicts are to be freed by imperial decree because of the birth of an heir to the throne, there was rejoicing in unusual places.

Hoke Smith visited Esopus and promised Judge Parker the vote of the solid south. But a few other votes will be wanting in November.

That latest affair in the far east seems to have been somewhat of a sea fight. Several Russian ships are now out of the running.

After the Republicans invade the solid south this campaign the Democrats down there will know what a political battle is.

The Pittsburgh "newsies" will take St. Louis by storm today. Here's luck to the boys. They have earned a great time.

Price of bread has gone up in New York in an effort to associate with the price of meat.

Talked of in Gotham

By ALEXANDER DODDS.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—In a tenement house in the Ghetto lives a skilled Jewish globemaker. His handiwork finds its way into many of the houses in uptown New York. Mapped spheres are seen everywhere, but his globes are not of this ilk. The ball of wood which is the foundation is tenderly covered with paper substance until he thinks it is thick enough. Wire is strung through the poles; wire also makes the axis. With the aid of instruments which have been in the family for generations, he divides the surface into hemispheres; then the lines of latitude and longitude are painted in. The maps used are brought from France and some in nearly 100 pieces. For his own people and some few of his customers he indulges in novelties such as putting in moon, sun and stars of different metals. One he now has in stock is made of different woods from Jerusalem, fashioned to represent the stens of Solomon's temple; the symbolism being that the globe rested upon the foundation of the holy structure. The old globemaker does not toil by the hour; his work is his day dream and fills all his waking moments. The children of the East Side tenements rush into his humble abode to see him decorating his globes, and late in the twilight they gaze at him pasting on Asia, Europe and Africa. When they have grown tired and are fast asleep in their beds, he is still making stars and moons, or carefully fitting together the tails of recalcitrant rivers that have become mixed with mountains and states having no relation whatever to them.

Lives On East Side Held Cheaply.

Snowballs, ices and soda water form so large a part of the East Side gamin's diet these days that the health department has grown apprehensive of the result. These delicacies retail at a penny each, and the youngsters gorge themselves. It would probably be injurious enough were they wholesome, but the dainties of the East Side are made mostly from artificial fruit flavors containing substances which vitally injure the system. Furthermore they are vended by uncouth men, who with unclean hands and contagion-bearing glasses transmit disease to their small patrons. It is a mammoth task that confronts the health bureau, but an effort is to be made to compel the venders to purchase their goods from establishments that bear licenses issued by the department, and who have the hot weather delicacies wrapped in waxed paper and allay, in a measure, the possibility of the transmission of disease germs.

To Shield the Immigrant Huns.

No. 3 State street is soon to appear in new paint, plaster and woodwork, from cellar through to the top, and when the renovated building is opened to inspection it will bear the words "Hungarian Relief Association," so that all immigrants from the fatherland who happen to stray across Battery park may read and enter. This institution is intended as a shelter for both sexes and will have accommodations for men, women and children. Moreover, there will be society agents on Ellis island to look out for Austrian and Hungarian immigrants and it will be their duty to conduct the incomers safely through lines of "those that prey," always waiting outside the gates, to the shelter of the home. They may remain at the home until called for by friends or relatives, or until work is found for them. About $5,000 is being expended in remodeling the building and the association is well enough financially fixed to care for those who have but the funds required by the government to get them through the portals of Castle Garden.

Crime Spot to Be Purified.

Mulberry park has replaced the infamous Five Points. Corlears Hook park has taken away the spirit of wrongdoing in that locality, and now the West Side is to witness the vanishing of the stamping ground of the remnants of the celebrated McGloin gang. A park is to be built on the West Twenty-seventh street and Ninth avenue block by the city. As the central figure in this movement is "Big Bill" Devery, and, while his methods were those of the crudest of ward politicians, the end almost justifies the means, for where children in kilts and boys in knickerbockers listened to the stories of crime will soon be crumbling ruins, and in its stead bright green and neat asphalt walks; a delightful playground or resting places for all. The gang spirit is still there, but conditions are changing the atmosphere and Devery, in his boisterous Bowery fashion, has taken the final step that means this locality will be cleaner and purer and safer for those whose homes are centered there. Many a parent has cursed the memory of Bill McGloin, who was hanged for murder long ago, when her offspring was led to the bar of justice and from there to the prison cell.

Will Train Zoo Pets New Tricks.

Hattie, a baby elephant in the menagerie in Central park, has become so vain of her ability as a musician and performer that a plan is being considered to make Peter, a hippopotamus, her rival for the attention of visitors to the zoo by teaching him aquatic tricks. Capricious and indifferent, the baby elephant has been so wilful since she became the entertainer of the members of a Sunday school class that her keeper, William Snyder, has difficulty in controlling her. The first performance which Hattie gave several weeks ago for the members of the class pleased them so much that they have frequently visited the elephant house and watched her walk on her hind legs while she played the harmonica. Though Peter, the baby hippopotamus, has never been trained, he possesses many tricks that Miss Murphy, his mother, taught him. He is an expert diver and swimmer and furnishes much amusement for visitors.

The Quiet Observer

By ERASMUS WILSON.

The folks who have been out in the country for a few weeks, or a few days, are flocking back to town. Some have a rested look, and some appear to be as tired as when they went away, but all are more or less sunburned.

An old friend who lives on a farm dropped in to say that the Lord has done his part, and most of the farmers are doing theirs. Some, however, are grumbling and growling, but these will do that same in the "fair lands of Eden" if they get a chance.

He says there have been a lot of city folks out on the farms this summer, but not many of them seemed to enjoy it. They said it was too slow for them, and the folks out there go to bed too early and get up right in the midst of the good sleeping.

The farm does seem slow to those who have contracted city paces and habits, and there is not much rest for them. And it is doubtful whether they get as much recreation there as if they were to go to some other city, or to a live town, where they could rusticate and rest on trolley cars.

* * * * *

The city girl who goes to the country to have a good time nearly always gets so homesick that two weeks seem like two months. Not having gone there with the intention of taking the regulation country exercise, such as milking, churning, washing, sewing, feeding chickens, canning and preserving fruit, and the like, she naturally gets tired, and lonesome, too.

And then she misses the city boys, the ice cream, soda water, and above all, their chaffing and chattering, although for the most part it is inane, silly and worthless.

The country boy hasn't the time just now to fool away on such stuff, nor can he enjoy the city kind any more than the city girl can enjoy the country boy's light talk.

The farm is a mighty good place for those who were raised there and stayed long enough to get into the hang of enjoying it before coming to the city. These enjoy living over again the scenes of their boyhood days, but even they will get so tired of it that the end of their vacation is hailed with delight.

It is where the heart is that a fellow wants to be during vacation.

* * * * *

About the most satisfaction a fellow gets out of a visit to the old farm is sitting on the fence watching the boys driving a mowing machine where he used to swing a scythe, see the reapers tumbling the sheaves off in bunches where he had spent weary days dragging them through stubble and briars, or raking and bending after a cradler.

These memories are rather pleasant to one sitting on the fence under a shade tree, but they can be recalled at one sitting, so that in a few days he has lived it all over again and is ready for something new, or something in which he has a more lively interest than in the old farm.

It is helpful, however, because it is different, and that is what makes a vacation profitable. But like any other medicine, it should not be continued ad nauseum, only taken in tonic doses.

Maybe, if a fellow were to take off his city clothes and don a regulation farm suit, and then pitch in and work like a farmer, he might feel better. He would, at least, feel different at the close of the day, with his blistered hand, sunburnt neck and aching bones.

* * * * *

The country boy has a lot of fun with his city cousins who go to the old farm where papa was raised. These feel that they know all about it from hearing him relating his experiences in early life.

At first they are crazy to help harvest, and especially to haul hay and put it in the mow. This craze is apt to wear off effectually in a few days, for the farmer boy is certain to give the city chaps a hot dose the very first time he gets them in the hay mow and he is pitching off the wagon. He simply buries them under great forkfuls sent up one after another in rapid succession.

Have you ever been in a hay mow with a fast pitcher on the wagon?

If so you have been in the most effective sweat-box in existence. And if there happened to be briars, yarrow, or dust in the hay, you will recall the fine cold you had in your head the next day.

The perfume of new-mown hay is all right in poetry, or when a fellow is lounging on a windrow, but not in a tight, superheated mow with a lusty pitcher on the wagon.

* * * * *

Among our more serious humorists none have excelled Charles Dudley Warner in touching up the farm boy. He it was who helped Mark Twain with "Roughing It," one of the most readable books of American humor. He isn't as funny as Mark Twain, but more heartsome. His "Backlog Studies," and "My Summer in a Garden" are simply great, as anyone will say who knows anything about a backlog with its changing faces and pictures, or a summer garden with peas, beans and popcorn, potato bugs, weeds and weevil.

Here follows a scrap from his pen which shows that he knew from experience what it is to be a country boy:

One of the best things in the world to be is a boy; it requires no experience, though it needs some practice to be a good one. The disadvantage of the position is that he does not last long enough. It is soon over. Just as you get used to being a boy, you have to be something else, with a good deal more work to do and not half so much fun.

And yet every boy is anxious to be a man, and is very uneasy with the restrictions that are put upon him as a boy. There are so many bright spots in the life of a farm boy that I sometimes think I should like to live the life over again. I should almost be willing to be a girl if it were not for the chores.

There is a great comfort to a boy in the amount of work he can get rid of doing. It is sometimes astonishing how slow he can go on an errand. Perhaps he couldn't explain, himself, why, when he is sent to the neighbor's after yeast, he stops to stone the frogs. He is not exactly cruel, but he wants to see if he can hit 'em. It is a curious fact about boys, that two will be a great deal slower in doing anything than one. Boys have a great power of helping each other do nothing.

But say what you will about the general usefulness of boys, a farm without a boy would very soon come to grief. He is always in demand. In the first place, he is to do all the errands, go to the store, the postoffice, and to carry all sorts of messages. He would like to have as many legs as a wheel has spokes, and rotate about in the same way.

This he sometimes tries to do, and people who have seen him "turning cartwheels" along the side of the road have supposed he was amusing himself and idling his time. He was only trying to invent a new mode of locomotion, so that he could economize his legs and do his errands with greater dispatch.

Leap-frog is one of his methods of getting over the ground quickly. He has a natural genius for combining pleasure with business.

And This Is His Busy Season.

The Death Roll

Albert Torrence.

The death of Albert Torrence, one of the oldest business men of Pittsburgh, occurred suddenly early yesterday morning. He retired at his usual hour on Saturday night, and when his daughter went to call him, about 7 o'clock, she found him dead. A physician was called and later stated that Mr. Torrence died about 3:30 a. m. Mr. Torrence, who was 78 years old, has not been in the best of health for some time, but had been at his business regularly until Thursday. He went home earlier than usual Wednesday, saying he was feeling badly from stomach trouble. A physician was called but nothing serious was expected, and his death was not anticipated. Mr. Torrence had been in the drug business on Market street since 1862. For 20 years he occupied the building at the corner of Fourth and Market, which was later razed to make way for the Gusky building. At that time his store was the meeting place for business and professional men of Fourth avenue, then as now the financial center of the city. These men Mr. Torrence knew well, and his stories of those days were very interesting to the younger Pittsburghers with whom he was acquainted. About 15 years ago Mr. Torrence's store was removed to Third and Market street, where it is now located. Mr. Torrence was born October 26, 1826, in Washington county. His father was Dr. James Torrence, who practiced his profession in Robinson township, this county, for many years. Mr. Torrence attended medical lectures in New York in 1852 and 1853, and started in the drug business in 1862. He was married in 1864, and his wife died three years ago. He is survived by one sister, Mrs. J. L. McGarr, who has been associated with him in business; one son, James, also associated with his father, and one daughter, Mrs. George H. Smouse, of 348 Lake street, Pittsburgh, with whom he has lived since the death of his wife. Mr. Torrence was a member of Bellefield Presbyterian church. The funeral services will be held at the residence of his daughter at 8 o'clock this evening. Burial will occur Tuesday at 1 p. m., at the old home in Robinson township, and will be private.

Mrs. Helen Weusthoff Kiersten.

Mrs. Helen Weusthoff Kiersten, aged 62, died Saturday evening at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Gustave Brockman, in Forest avenue, Bellevue. She was born in Duesseldorf, Germany, and was married to the late Gustave Kiersten in 1870. They came to America in 1893 and resided in Avalon until Mr. Kiersten's death, one year ago. Mrs. Kiersten was a member of the First German Lutheran church of Pittsburgh. The funeral services will be held at the home tomorrow afternoon. Two daughters, Mrs. Brookman and Mrs. Martha Denslen, and one son, Gustave Kiersten, survive. All live in Bellevue.

William Boggs.

Attorney William Boggs died yesterday morning at Old Point Comfort, where he had gone several months ago in search of health. His home for years was in Monongahela, although his law office was in Charleroi. He was 60 years old and was born in Marietta, O. He served two years in the civil war, and for nine months was incarcerated in Libby prison. He is survived by his widow and two children—Thaddeus M. Boggs and Miss Belle Boggs, both of Monongahela.

Mathias Evans.

Mathias Evans, aged 73, died at the residence of his son, F. B. Evans, 1312 North avenue, Wilkinsburg, Saturday night. He was a member of the Curtins school board for three terms. He is survived by three sons: Fred B. of Wilkinsburg, John of Duncansville, Blair county, and Ambrose of Pittsburgh; one brother, Constance, of Williamsport, and two sisters, Marjory Cox and Mrs. Sarah Funk of Curtins, Pa.

PERSONALS

"Kansas has a phenomenal apple crop this year," said Raymond W. McKenzie, a prominent stock raiser of Wilson, Kan., who was a passenger on the Pennsylvania limited to St. Louis last night. "For years," he said, "Kansas farmers have been experimenting with apple trees and trees planted years ago gave this season a crop which shows that from now on Kansas will be in the lead as an apple-growing state. Reports of big apple crops come from all parts of the state except in the extreme western end, where there is scarcely any fruit grown. In Reno county alone, about the center of the state, there has been a crop of between 300 and 400 carloads. The crop is so large this year that the growers are compelled to send to other states for pickers, as they have been doing to get help to harvest the big grain crops. The stock raisers are not suffering on account of the meat strike. The strike has had the effect of reducing the demand for cattle, but, as we have had plenty of rain and have good pasturage, the cattle are turned out on the prairie to graze and get more weight."

The Duquesne Fishing club, composed of prominent Republican politicians of this county, returned home yesterday from Jubilee Island, Georgian bay, Michigan, after a two-weeks' outing. In the fishing party were Robert Ostermaier, Thomas G. McClure, Archibald Mackrell, W. B. Murray, John C. Haymaker, Fred W. Edwards and more than a dozen others. The return home was made a day or two earlier than intended at first in order that the members might be here in time to attend the funeral of George A. Chalfant.

Paul L. Dromisseau, a business man of Paris, France, is at the Duquesne.

For the past few weeks small parties of Russians have been leaving this county and passing through Pittsburgh on their way to their native country. One of these at the Union station last night said that many of them had been called back on account of the war with Japan. Most of those who are going back to Russia are not naturalized in America and are obeying the summons of their native country to return and serve in the army, the Russian government offering them free transportation, good pay, with the promise of assistance to families they may leave behind. Others going back have been called home by their families to look after their property. There is an unusual demand for farm labor, the scarcity being caused by the departure of almost every available man for the front, and this is another incentive for Russians to go home.

Mrs. Tillie Moore, matron at the Oakland police station, has left for Ocean Grove, N. J., where she will sojourn for two weeks.

FIVE INJURED IN AUTO COLLISION

Buggy Is Wrecked and Small Girl, One of Occupants, Is Badly Hurt.

MACHINE WAS NOT STOPPED

Five persons driving in a trap through Schenley park last night were injured, one seriously, in a rear-end collision with an automobile, the occupants of the automobile being unknown, as they did not stop to ascertain the extent of the damage they had done or to give assistance.

THE INJURED.

JOHN ZIMMERMAN, grocer, 326 Ward street.
MRS. ZIMMERMAN, his wife.
IRENE ZIMMERMAN, daughter, aged 4.
EARLE ZIMMERMAN, son, aged 7.
MRS. MARY MILLER of Frazier street, a friends of the Zimmermans.

As Zimmerman was driving up the serpentine an automobile, carrying six persons, and followed closely by another machine, came up behind them. They were traveling at a high rate of speed. Zimmerman pulled as close to the side of the road as he could. The automobile, as it swung around the curve, in the serpentine, smashed into the rear of Zimmerman's trap, completely wrecking it.

Mrs. Zimmerman and Mrs. Miller were in the rear seat and the little girl was in her mother's lap. The three were thrown into the air and tossed to one side of the road. Zimmerman had caught his son when the crash came and as the horse jumped father and son were dragged out and along the road for a hundred yards.

The automobile was not stopped, but was driven rapidly and disappeared in a minute. People near the spot ran to the Zimmermans and gave them all possible assistance.

Mrs. Zimmerman was unconscious, but soon revived. She had received a scalp wound and was badly bruised. Mrs. Miller had her right shoulder cut and her back wrenched. Irene had struck on her head and suffered from concussion. Zimmerman received a scalp wound, was cut on the arm and leg and scratched and bruised by being dragged. Earl was cut about the body and legs, the result of being dragged.

As soon as possible they were taken home, where Dr. Williams of Boquet street attended them. While all of them were suffering severely the only one regarded as being in danger was the little girl. It is feared that she has sustained an injury to her brain.

Sergeant Adam Stoeckel and Officer Charles Bald of the park police, searched for the automobile that caused the accident, but were unable to locate it.

SHAFFER ORDERS SALARIED MEN BACK TO MILLS

Tells Them to Respect Contracts—Hoop Company Likely to Make Move Against Tonnage Employes.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Aug. 14.—There is no question but that the continuous mills of the American Steel Hoop Company will be placed in operation tomorrow morning. The situation has been changed by a letter from President Theodore Shaffer, telling the men to return to work. He says:

"After carefully considering the situation between the Carnegie Steel Company and some of its employes, who are members of the Amalgamated association, and recollecting that during our strike against the United States Steel Corporation these employes were in receipt of their salaries without rendering return of any kind, and inasmuch as the annual agreement is legal and the Amalgamated association cannot adjure contracts, and as the action of the Wheeling convention is a confirmation of such annual contracts, I hereby express the opinion that all such Amalgamated individuals keep inviolate their contracts until the contract period shall terminate. I trust that our members will return to work when called upon to do so by the proper officials and continue at work until the time expires or satisfactory arrangements are made with our organization."

With the starting of the continuous mills, four in number, on which are employed all salaried men, the company gains the first point in the fight against the association. The contracts, in most cases, are for 60 days. Next the company will aim at the tonnage men, and the present week will, in all probability, see a radical move made against the association.

DEFENDED HIS NAME.

Marcellus Runsoishopski Accused of Stabbing Man for Taking It in Vain.

Thomas Tsonkivich, aged 48, of 3010 Preble avenue, Allegheny, was painfully cut in the face and head yesterday. He told the police that Marcellus Runsoishopski of 2742 Liberty street did it. Runsoishopski, he said, had been courting his daughter against Tsonkivich's wish. Tsonkivich did not like Runsoishopski's name, because it has such a foreign sound.

The two men met on the Twenty-eighth street bridge. There the elder told the other what he thought of his cognomen and Runsoishopski, so Tsonkivich says, drew a knife and cut and stabbed him six times. None of the wounds was in a vital spot, and after Tsonkivich's injuries were dressed he was taken home in a patrol wagon. The assailant was not captured.

X-RAY IS TO BE USED UPON SERGEANT LEWIS

An operation for the extraction of the bullet from Police Sergeant Owen M. Lewis will be attempted this morning at the South Side hospital. Lewis attempted suicide Thursday morning by firing a 38-caliber bullet through his breast. The fact that Lewis has lived this long has led the physicians to attempt an operation for the removal of the bullet. This morning the X-ray will be first applied and the bullet located, after which it will be cut out. Lewis' physical condition is considered so good that little doubt is entertained of his ability to withstand the shock of the operation.

SWEDISH GIRL INJURED BY A TRACTION CAR

Maggie Olesen, a Swedish girl employed as a domestic in the residence of Dr. C. F. Schaefer, Irwin avenue, Squirrel hill, sustained a painful scalp wound while stepping from car No. 1389 on the Rankin line in Forbes street last night. She was taken to the Oakland police station, where her injuries were dressed.

Villages Destroyed by Turks.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Aug. 14.—A band of Armenians has been attacked by Turkish troops in the village of Schamirun, five hours travel north of Bitlis, Asiatic Turkey. Kurds are alleged to have taken part in the attack. Two villages are reported to have been destroyed.

Aged Woman Commits Suicide.

WARREN, O., Aug. 14.—(Special.)—Miss Rose Gilder, aged 65, committed suicide by hanging in the barn of her nephew, Lee Streator, one mile north of Cortland, this morning. Mr. Streator's father took his own life in the same manner. Miss Gilder was a sister of L. P. Gilder, a prominent business man of this city.

Hunting a Connellsville Man.

Friends of Robert M. Hasley of Connellsville were in the city last night making inquiries as to his whereabouts. He was last heard from about July 1, and his family heard that he had been either killed or injured at Wheeling junction, Glenwood, by falling from a train.

NATIONAL G. A. R. CONVENES TODAY

Governor Pennypacker Will Speak at Camp Fire of Ex-War Prisoners Tonight.

CANDIDATES FOR COMMANDER

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

BOSTON, Aug. 14.—The national encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic, with its several affiliated bodies, will open in this city tomorrow.

Commander-in-Chief Black, accompanied from Washington by members of his family, arrived at encampment headquarters at 4 o'clock this afternoon and was given a rousing reception.

In connection with the meetings of the Grand Army there will be held the annual gatherings of the National Woman's Relief corps, the National Daughters of Veterans, the National Sons of Veterans, the National Ladies' Aid society, auxiliary to the Sons of Veterans; the National Ladies of the G. A. R., the National Army nurses' association, the National Association of Naval Veterans, and the National Association of ex-Prisoners of War.

Grand Parade Tomorrow.

The feature of the week will be the parade of Grand Army men on Tuesday, when it is expected that from 20,000 to 40,000 veterans will be in line. A parade today will be made up of about 1,000 Sons of Veterans of Massachusetts, the members of the Associations of the ex-Prisoners of War; Mexican War Veterans, the State Naval brigade, the League of Spanish war veterans, marines and jackies from the United States warships now in the harbor, and several regimental associations—making about 5,000 men.

At the Hotel Vendome tomorrow night, the Womans' Relief corps will give a reception in honor of Commander-in-Chief John G. Black of the G. A. R., and all the members of that organization. In the evening there will also be a camp fire by the Union ex-prisoners of war. Gov. Bliss of Michigan, Gov. Pennypacker of Pennsylvania, Gov. Bates of Massachusetts, Commander-in-Chief Black and others will speak.

On Tuesday evening the mammoth camp fire of the Grand Army will be held in Mechanics building. William M. Olin of this state will preside, and arrangements have been made to receive 10,000 people.

Will Hold Business Sessions.

On Wednesday the Woman's Relief corps of the G. A. R., the Sons of Veterans, the Daughters of Veterans, and other associations will hold their annual business sessions.

Much interest centers in the choice of the new commander-in-chief. For this office there are already several prominent candidates, including Gen. Wilmont W. Blackmar of Massachusetts, Col. John C. Shotts and Col. Allan C. Bakewell of New York.

Other features of the encampment will be the launching of the United States training ship Cumberland, on Wednesday at Charlestown, in the presence of distinguished officials, including Secretary of the Navy Morton; the carnival illumination of the Charles river at Waltham on Wednesday evening; an automobile pilgrimage to Lexington and Concord on Thursday, and an electrical parade commemorative of representative incidents in national history, to be held in the Back Bay on Thursday evening. Receptions, reunions, camp fires, and excursions to points made famous in history will occupy the remainder of the week.

ACCIDENTS AT WEDDING.

Horses of Bridal Party Took Fright and Two Drivers Hurt.

A runaway occurred yesterday afternoon at 5:30 o'clock in Sixth avenue, McKeesport, in front of the Tree of Life church. M. Y. Weiss and Mary Harstigen had been married in the church and were about to enter their carriage when a red automobile scared the horses in the first carriage. They ran off, scaring two other teams also.

Driver Thomas Hamilton tried to stop his team, was thrown from his seat and the horses trampled on him. He sustained a fractured skull in two places, and his face was badly cut. Charles Carns, another driver, tried to stop a team and was knocked down and run over. His right leg was lacerated and he was severely bruised about the head.

Pittsburgher Died in Cell.

Superintendent of Detectives McQuaide last night received word from John Howell, chief of police at Clarksburg, W. Va., that John McGuire of this city died in the station house of that place early yesterday morning and asked the police to find his relatives here. The body was turned over to an undertaker at Clarksburg.

New Pastor in Wilkinsburg.

The Rev. George C. Horter, Ph. D., who accepted a call to the Wilkinsburg Baptist church last month, took up his new pastorate yesterday, preaching at both services. He is from the Third church of Camden, N. J.

Sacred Concert in Allegheny.

The first of a series of sacred concerts to be given in Riverview park, Allegheny, during the summer and fall was held last night at the chapel near the main entrance. Thousands attended and listened to the music by the American military band. The concerts are to continue until the middle of October.

Fell from a Tipple.

Arthur Seabold, aged 30, a miner of Bruce station, died yesterday morning at Mercy hospital from injuries received on Saturday. While working on a coal tipple he fell, fracturing his skull and both arms.

SAW GLACIERS, ICEBERGS AND WHALES IN JULY

Writing under a July date line to local friends, the Rev. Dr. Warren G. Partridge, pastor of the Fourth Avenue Baptist church, who is spending his vacation at Skagway, Alaska, states that he is passing the midsummer inspecting glaciers and icebergs which are passing Skagway in numbers, and that many whales have been sighted by his party.

BRITISH TROOPS FORCE FOOD FROM TIBETANS

They Threaten Attack on Monastery, Where Monks Had Stoned Them.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

LASSA, TIBET, Aug. 7.—(Delayed in transmission.)—The British mission is experiencing difficulty in obtaining supplies, and no attempt has yet been made to start negotiations. The Tibetan officials, having been warned that if supplies were not forthcoming the British will be obliged to seize them, replied that they were unable to compel the peasants to sell their grain.

One thousand troops, with four guns, marched today to the Daipung monastery, a mile distant, containing 7,000 monks and probably the largest monastery in the world. A small party was sent ahead with a letter, asking the abbot for supplies and offering to pay liberally for them, but notifying the abbot that if the supplies were refused they would be taken by force. Crowds of monks collected at the entrance to the monastery. They declined to take the letter and threw stones at the party, which then left the letter in a prominent place and returned to the main body. The monks then took the letter and sent a deputation with a white flag. This deputation, seeing the troops deployed and the guns ready, promised to bring all supplies possible. After some hours' delay, the monks produced a hundred maunds of barley and flour. A maund is a weight of about 80 pounds. With these the British had to be content.

BROKEN HEART THE CAUSE OF MRS. SENNETT'S DEATH

Her Husband's Death Was Followed by Misfortune, Litigation and Unhappiness.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Aug. 14.—A broken heart is the cause assigned by doctors for the death of Mrs. Florence C. Sennett, the widow of George B. Sennett. Mrs. Sennett was the daughter of Senator Clements of Georgia, and was married first to a man named Smith. After his death she met George B. Sennett of Erie, Pa. He was then married and his wife and daughter were in Europe.

Shortly after Sennett divorced his wife, who was a prominent society woman of Meadville, Pa., and now lives there. He afterwards married Mrs. Smith and removed from Meadville to Youngstown. In 1900 he died. The divorced wife brought suit against the estate in the name of her daughter and secured $50,000. The business, managed badly, lost enormously. The second Mrs. Sennett a year ago was sued by her coachman, Mitchell Irwin, for breach of promise, and the suit is still in court. Friday she went to the house of a friend, spending several hours in writing a letter which has not been made public. She was 50 years old. The body will be taken to Pittsburgh Monday for cremation.

PITTSBURGH MAN ROBBED.

Woman Accused Caught While Attempting to Leave Cleveland—Her Husband in Custody.

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 14.—(Special.)—After a chase through the heart of the city early this morning, from the police station to the Union depot, two police officers captured a Cleveland woman whom George Wolf, a Pittsburgh traveling salesman, charged with stealing $800 from him. Wolf is a guest at the American house. This morning he reported to the police that a couple had robbed him of the amount stated.

The woman could not be found, but after a search her husband, Albert R. Taylor, was taken into custody. He admitted his wife might have the cash, but she was aboard a train that was due to leave the Union depot in exactly four minutes. The detectives hurried to the depot and captured her. The money could not be found. Her name is Jessie Taylor.

WILL OPEN HEADQUARTERS.

Secretary Andrews to Get Affairs in Shape for the Return of Chairman Penrose.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 14.—(Special.)—Maj. W. R. Andrews, secretary of the Republican state committee, will formally open the state headquarters on Locust street, below Fifteenth, tomorrow and get things in shape before the return home of Chairman Penrose, September 5.

Mr. Andrews reiterated the statement tonight that Roosevelt is so sure of a sweeping majority in the state that the state committee can apply itself wholly to fighting the Democrats in those districts where they expect to work hard to elect congressmen.

The state committee will not meet until the middle of September.

DECLARED A TRUCE.

Blue Law Advocates and Bellevue Druggists Have Armed Neutrality.

A truce has been declared between the Allegheny County Sabbath Observance society and the druggists who were brought before Justice of the Peace George J. Campbell of Bellevue last week for violation of the "blue laws," and all the drug stores were selling as usual yesterday.

A conference will be held in the Y. M. C. A. building of Pittsburgh this afternoon between officers of the society and of the Western Pennsylvania Association of Retail Druggists.

Pittsburgh Man Married.

CLEVELAND, Aug. 14.—(Special.)—At 4:30 today Marcus Neuman of Pittsburgh and Miss Rose Marchand of this city were married at Frau Wohl's, on Seneca street, by Rabbi Gries of the temple. None but immediate relatives of the family were present. After a six weeks' bridal trip through the east the couple will be at home on Boquet street, Pittsburgh. The parents of the groom sent a cablegram of congratulations from their home in Posen, Germany.

Allegheny Speakeasies Raided.

An alleged speakeasy on Orchard lane, Allegheny, was raided at 10 a. m. yesterday. Nine men were arrested. At 2 p. m. No. 2 Page street was raided and two men arrested. A quantity of whisky and beer was secured at each place.

BRADDOCK HAD FESTIVAL DAY

Birth of Czar's Son Observed by Local Russians in Special Church Services.

OTHER IMPORTANT EVENTS

The rejoicings of the people of Russia over the birth of a son to the czar and czarina had their echo in this vicinity yesterday in the special services held by various Catholic congregations in observance of this felicitous event. Members of several Russian congregations of Allegheny county assembled in St. Peter's and St. Paul's Greek Catholic church, Braddock, and participated in a service of thanksgiving for the birth of the Grand Duke Alexis, heir to the Russian throne. Headed by their pastor, the Rev. Father Korofouky, the members of the Church of the Holy Ghost (Greek Catholic) of Allegheny, journeyed in a body to Braddock and spent the entire day there celebrating the event so momentous in the Russian church.

Braddock was the nucleus yesterday for various Catholic societies. All day the town was full of marching men who paraded the streets with brass bands. Coadjutor Bishop J. F. Regis Canevin of the Pittsburgh diocese was the central figure in the day's exercises. He officiated at the dedication of the new church just completed by the Croatian Roman Catholics of the town. Croatian societies in uniform, and adorned with the insignias of their orders, flocked to Braddock early in the morning and at 1 o'clock attended the dedication ceremonies. Bishop Canevin also presided at the laying of the corner stone of the new Sacred Heart Polish church in Sixth street. This took place at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, following which the combined societies paraded the streets until darkness settled down.

In practically every church in the county having any Russian affiliations special services were held in honor of the birth of the czar's son.

MRS. MAYBRICK EN VOYAGE.

Passenger on the Vaderland for New York Under Name of Miss Rose Ingram.

LONDON, Aug. 14.—Mrs. Florence Maybrick is on board the Red Star line steamer Vaderland, which sailed from Antwerp yesterday morning, under the name of Miss Rose Ingram. She is accompanied by her attorney, Mr. Hayden, who arranged the details of her departure.

Mrs. Maybrick arrived in Paris Friday and was met by Percy Barnard of New York. She spent the night at a hotel with Mr. Hayden and his wife, and the party boarded the Vaderland at Antwerp yesterday. On her arrival at New York Mrs. Maybrick will be the guest of Dr. Densmore. Mrs. Maybrick's mother, the Baroness de Roques, intends to follow her daughter shortly.

Died in a Strange Country.

Nicholas Yuratovic, an Austrian, aged 17, of 1218 Sawmill alley, Allegheny, died last night at the Allegheny General hospital of typhoid fever. The boy had been in this country but a few weeks and was ill only eight days. He had no relatives in this country.

Choked Katie Williamson.

J. A. Cummings of 900 East Ohio street, Allegheny, was yesterday sent to jail for 20 days for beating and choking Katie Williamson of 419 East Robinson street.

WILL BE BURIED IN BALTIMORE

Body of J. Herbert Coates of McKeesport Ordered Taken to Native Home.

SISTER LIVES IN THE EAST END

Superintendent of Detectives McQuaide received a message from Washington, D. C., yesterday morning, asking him to find relatives of J. Herbert Coates of McKeesport, who was one of the 10 persons drowned at the regatta races in that city Saturday, and to forward information as to the disposition of the body.

Mrs. Edward L. Bosson of 1122 Lincoln avenue, East End, who is a sister of the dead man, was notified, as was also the mother, who resides in Baltimore, but was here visiting her daughter. Mrs. Bosson sent word to Washington, through Superintendent McQuaide, asking that the body be turned over to Columbia Commandery, No. 2, Knights Templars, of Washington, D. C., with instructions to forward the remains to the home of Mrs. Coates at 2303 Callow avenue, Baltimore, from which address the funeral will take place.

J. Herbert Coates, who was 55 years of age and single, came here from his native home, Baltimore, last spring, together with his sister and brother-in-law, Edward L. Bosson, an upholsterer. Coates took up his residence in McKeesport and engaged in business there. Two other sisters survive him, one in Denver and the other in Baltimore. Mrs. Bosson and Mrs. Coates left last evening for Baltimore.

WOMAN PROMPTS A MURDER.

Induces Husband to Kill Man Who Had Made a Remark Reflecting on Her Character.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 14.—(Special.)—Overhearing Owen Conahan make an insulting remark about her this afternoon while in her home, Mrs. William P. Kilderry rushed up to her husband with a pistol in her hand and urged him to shoot the offender. Kilderry followed her advice, sending a bullet in Conahan's brain, which killed him almost instantly.

Conahan entered Kilderry's home, 2006 Callowhill street, to tell him that he was to be married to Miss Julia O'Donnell, who works in Kilderry's restaurant. Kilderry told him he was a fool to wed the girl, and to dissuade him cast aspersions on the young woman's honor. This enraged Conahan, and he replied that Kilderry's wife was not above reproach, which caused the tragedy. Kilderry and his wife were immediately arrested.

PLUCKING A CHICKEN WHILE IT WAS ALIVE

NEW CASTLE, PA., Aug. 14.—Mrs. Mary Conti was arrested yesterday by the Rev. Louis B. Shuster, humane officer, for having plucked the feathers from a live chicken. She was taken before Alderman Ranney, admitted plucking the chicken and said she had not sufficient nerve to chop off its head. It cost her $9.44 for having failed to kill the chicken before dressing it.

FINE BLACK GOODS

—made in Austria—neat invisible armure effects, $1.25, $1.50 and $2.00.

These Austrian Black Goods of this special kind are made from better wool and with more care—and nearer perfection than any like fabric made in the world.

Nothing remarkable about the style but there is about the superiority of the fabric and finish and texture.

The goods are fine medium dress weight and are appreciated by ladies who want neat fine black dresses for service the year around.

These fabrics we've been importing for years and tested their merit—and we sell as many in summer as in winter—they're all the year 'round fine black goods.

NEW

Autumn Suitings commencing to come in.

Three cases, 54-inch wide Suiting—neat quiet styles and correct colorings, $1.25 and $1.50.

Selling out fine plain Dress Goods and fine wool Suitings that were on hand, 25c, 35c, 50c, 75c and $1.50 that present opportunities to save a lot of Dollars for yourselves or children.

Save—and save more than you think—on goods you'll buy within a few weeks anyhow.

B. & B.

FINE DRESSY COTTONS

We're cleaning out all 10 to 40c kinds at 5, 7½, 10, and 15c.

But better kinds at 7½, 10, and 15c are of much more interest than the 5-cent kinds.

As great range of 25 to 40c Dressy Cottons (and some Mousselines) at 10 and 15c, some light and dark (many as pretty as silks and adapted to wear on more occasions than silks) has never been emptied out of shelves in this store.

BOGGS & BUHL, Allegheny.

B. & B.

COTTONS

Superb lot striped Cottons at half price, 15c—maker, one of the best in the country, named them, Panama Suitings.

They're really mercerized striped Oxfords.

White grounds with black and colored stripes—bright and lustrous—also blue, green, and brown stripes with woven spots properly spaced alongside the mercerized stripe—spot is black in the darker shade of cadet, and blue in the lighter shade of cadet.

50 cent medium weight, solid color Cottons, 25c—two shades of cadet blue—with highly mercerized fancy stripes—lustrous as silk—neat woven spot in the colored stripes.

Cottons of medium weight and texture—more suitable for fall and winter wear than for summer.

25 cent double width, fine plain Madras—4 colors, navy, pink, gray and brown mix, 15c—for Shirtwaist Suits and children's wear this is a chance.

Lot of double fold, 25c fine embroidered Dress Madras—with colored figures—blue, green and pink grounds—and a very pretty and very neat blue and white mix ground with white spot.

Please notice above are all fine Cottons of unusual merit and just as far under the price they were made to sell for as stated.

We want business, and we're advertising goods at prices that will bring it.

Suit and Skirting Cottons—Ducks and Cheviots—light and dark, 5, 6½, 7½, 10, and 15c.

Whole department to be absolutely sold out.

B. & B.

SILKS, 35c

Seems like a mighty low price for silks—and it is—but the Silks are right—were bought right which accounts for the remarkable low price.

They're choice neat fancy Silks—navy, jasper, etc.—good style and 50 cent quality.

Chance to get a nice Silk Shirtwaist Suit at very small cost.

1,500 yards assorted Fancy Silks, 50c.

On this large table are checks that were sold for 85c—stripes that were 75c and $1.00—and many other good silks that are worth up to a Dollar a yard—not a small lot but plenty for all those who want nice silk dresses—pay you to attend this sale of choice silks at fifty cents as no sale ever paid you.

B. & B.

CHANTILLY LACE WAISTS

Just received—fine new lot of beautiful silk lined Chantilly Lace Waists bought underprice—now to be sold just as much underprice as we bought them.

$8.50 ones with fancy applique yoke white and butter color, $5.00—all sizes.

Chance to get a pretty dressy Shirtwaist at a price that saves buyers money worth seeing about.

Lot pretty Lawn Waists—two Dollar values—two styles—embroidery and tuck trimmed and pleat and tuck trimming, $1.25.

$3.50 Linen Shirtwaists, $2.00—tucked and pleated.

Just received a lot of fine lustrous black peau de soie Waists which are priced to save every woman who buys one a Dollar and a half as these waists were never intended to be sold for less than $5.00.

All sizes between 32 and 44—tucked front and sleeves, pleated back—dainty black ornaments on front pleat and collar.

One hundred is all we have of these fine waists at such a price advantage.

GAMES TODAY.

Pittsburgh at Boston.
Cincinnati at New York.
Chicago at Philadelphia.
St. Louis at Brooklyn.

BOSTON, Aug. 14.—(Special.)—Deacon Phillippe may pitch for Pittsburgh tomorrow against Boston. If he does not work tomorrow then he will be in one of the New York games, probably the first there. Phillippe is now in fair shape. The Pirates lounged around their hotel today, all being in a hopeful mood. Beaning Phelps is still feeling the effects of his slide to the home plate Friday. His hip is damaged somewhat in consequence of the slide.

Boston's king pin, C. James Connelly, and President Pulliam are busy devising a scheme by which umpires will make the spectators understand whether balls are called strikes or not. Pulliam went to New York today but will return in September, before sailing for Europe for his vacation. About 40 naval cadets from the torpedo boats and the training ship Hartford, including a nephew of Barney Dreyfuss, were guests of the management yesterday.

The Pirates will go after the Beaneaters hard tomorrow to get revenge for the defeat of yesterday. Wagner was very "sore" because Wilhelm struck him out in the ninth inning. Leach is ahead with the little chap back on third the Champions look like their old selves a little more. Wilhelm is the only Boston pitcher who has beaten the Pirates. Barney Dreyfuss would like to have him back, so Buckenburger says.

LEG IS BROKEN BUT HE SAVES GAME

NEW ROCHELLE, N. Y., Aug. 14.—(Special.)—With his leg broken in two places, Michael Whalen, third baseman on the Yonkers team, put his man out and won the championship game of ball between the Yonkers team and the Rough Riders of New Rochelle this afternoon. Whalen attempted to rise to his feet to acknowledge the crowd's greeting, when he fell back and had to be carried off the field. Today's game was to decide the championship of West Chester county. The score stood 8 to 8 in favor of Yonkers in the ninth inning. The Rough Riders had two men out and one man on second base. The batter knocked a grounder, during which the man on second attempted to make third base. In doing so he ran into Whalen, knocked him down and broke his leg. While Whalen was falling the Yonkers fielder threw the ball to third base. Whalen saw the ball coming, reached up, caught it and put his man out, winning the game. He was later removed to the New Rochelle hospital.

Bookmaker Favors New York.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 14.—(Special.)—George Ehrlich, the St. Louis and San Francisco bookmaker, is making book on the race in the American league, and has made New York favorite at the odds of 9 to 5. He has one bet of $900 to $500. Boston and Chicago are even second choices at 12 to 5. Philadelphia and Cleveland are even choice for third and Washington is a 200-to-1 shot.

First Services in a Chapel.

The first Presbyterian services in the new town of West View were held there in a temporary chapel by the Rev. Charles Dalzell yesterday afternoon. A Sunday school has also been organized and three building lots secured as a site for the church which it is intended to build.

Arrangements are completed for the cornerstone laying of the new temple of the McKeesport lodge No. 136, B. P. O. Elks, which will take place Monday, August 22. Attorney W. N. Carr, exalted past ruler of the Uniontown lodge, will be orator.

HOCKEY REQUIRES LOTS OF SPEED

Player Must Be Good Skater and Know How to Handle His Stick.

DISCUSSED BY AUTHORITY

By E. J. GIANNINI.
Physical Director of New York Athletic Club.

Of the many games which are played by opposing teams in combination toward objective goals, hockey is without doubt the fastest and most exhilarating.

For this reason those who wish to excel as players must first be trained to keep up the pace, and, secondly, to quickness of thought and action, that they may be always ready to seize the opportunities as they occur, which in such a game are innumerable.

The first question a novice will ask is: How can I become proficient? what rules shall I follow in order to attain championship form?

The first attention should be paid to the skating, which is the basis for a good player. Constant practice is necessary to so strengthen the legs that they can maintain the continual strain of turning, twisting and dodging and sudden stopping.

With this rapid skating, dodging, jumping and general quickness in stopping and turning should be constantly repeated until the would-be hockey expert becomes sure of his feet and possessed of confidence in himself that he can best any opponent at the game.

While learning the art of skating as applied to the game the player must study the handling of the stick. This is most important, as the right way is really the easiest. A player, in playing on the right side, should hold the left hand at the end of the stick and the right below, in accordance with height and reach. A man who is left handed will naturally hold the stick reverse way, but he is playing from the other side of his body.

Most of the good American and Canadian hockey players are as good on one side as the other. Whichever way you may hold the stick, except in an emergency, always use both hands and get right up to your work.

The most important points for the player, then, to master are dribbling, passing, shooting and lifting the puck. To dribble well is essential for every man on the team, but especially for the forwards.

This is accomplished by carrying the puck well in front on the toe and passing it from side to side with alternate sides of the stick as the player advances.

The angle at which the puck is advanced would depend on the speed of the player at the time. When unexpected, pass quickly to any of the other players on your side who has the least interference. Don't delay until it is too late to do so with safety. Pass so the puck will slide along the ice not toward the man's skates, but just in front of him.

Suppose the player to be competent in dribbling and passing, he must learn to shoot, which is the usual method of scoring goals. This is done by placing the heel of the stick against the puck and snapping the stick with a turn of the wrist. It is necessary to learn this from either the left side or the right, and to do it without hesitation and in tight corners. The best goal shot is the one with a slight lift to knee high, which is the most difficult for a goal keeper to stop. It is too high for him to get in his stick effectively, and just too low for the use of his body.

The lifting of the puck must be learned next, especially if playing in a defensive position. This is accomplished by placing the middle of the butt of the stick against the lower half of the puck and scooping with an upward movement. With practice it can be lifted high over the opponents' heads, so it cannot be reached by their sticks while in progress.

The various points of individual play having been mastered, their use in team work remains to be studied and practiced. This combination of the players is the great feature of hockey, without which no team can ever rise above mediocrity.

Not only is it the road to success in scoring, but it makes hard work for the men, so they will be much fresher at the end than if they had gone in for individual and grand stand plays.

The first thing to do on securing the puck is to look for the positions of the other members of the team, and as soon as confronted pass to the one who appears to be in the most advantageous position. Don't be selfish. It is unscientific, and, although once in a while success may crown the individual play of a fast forward, the effect of such work will quickly play him out. The only exception to this rule is when the puck is in front of your own goal, when it should either be lifted out of danger or got away to the side as quickly as possible, when it is then safe to resume passing tactics.

SCENE SHIFTS TO BROOKLYN.

Harness Horses Leave Empire Track This Week to Compete at City of Churches.

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—(Special.)—Brooklyn is to be treated this week to five days of light harness racing, the contestants of which will be the grand circuit stars, the fastest horses in the country. Judging from the entry list of the meet, which will start tomorrow at the Brighton Beach track, the sport promises to be even more interesting than that of the week's trotting just brought to a conclusion at the Empire City track. The same officials and plan of racing will be followed. All the horses competing at the Empire track will also be entered at the Brighton races, and in addition several new candidates have been named. The management will be the same as at the Empire meet.

The feature of Monday's card will be the Sea Breeze stakes, valued at $5,000 for 2:10 trotters. The Coney Island, for three-year-olds in the 2:30 trotting class, valued at $2,000, will also be run the first day. In addition there will be a one and one-eighth mile dash for 2:18 trotters, a one-half mile dash for 2:17 pacers, a one and one-eighth mile dash for the 2:13 trotters and a mile dash for 2:05 pacers.

The features for Tuesday's racing are the Brighton stakes, valued at $5,000, for 2:08 pacers, and the John H. Shults stakes, with a purse of $3,000 for 2:20 trotters. In addition there will be a one and one-eighth mile dash for 2:20 pacers, a one and one-eighth mile dash for 2:08 trotters and a one and one-sixteenth mile dash for 2:16 trotters.

On Wednesday the principal event will be the Long Island stakes, valued at $10,000, for 2:14 trotters. The eligibles for this large purse are Mary Gage, Alberto, Aristo, Direct View, Lady Patchie, Sweet Marie, Alexander, The Rajah, Ethel's Pride, Oxford Chimes, Wood Tella, Katherine and Miss Gay. A 2:12 trot, one and one-eighth mile dash, the 2:10 pace, mile dash and the 2:21 trot, one and one-eighth mile dash will be added features.

On Thursday the principal event will be the Metropolitan, for 2:18 pacers, with a purse valued at $5,000. In addition there will be a one and one-sixteenth mile dash for 2:17 trotters, a mile dash for 2:07 trotters, a one and one-eighth mile dash for 2:12 pacers and a mile dash for the 2:07 pacers.

Fighters in Training.

Mull Bowser has been forced to hunt a new training ground owing to the

IN THE OIL FIELDS

Field developments in the lower southwest failed again to present any new discoveries during the past week. That such was the result of the earnest effort making in all fields is exceedingly discouraging for those who are devoting time and money in the vain endeavor to locate new producing territory.

It can be said with a degree of certainty that unless many of the larger operating companies in the lower southwest fields meet with greater success during the remainder of the current year than has been realized during the expired months, at the close their production will be less than at the beginning. A glance at the present operations of some of the larger companies and it is not possible to name a single one that can lay claim and produce the figures to show that it has or is now increasing its production.

Development work has been most active every month in the year, except when the cold weather in the first two months caused a partial shut-down in the fields. During the spring and summer months almost unprecedented activity has prevailed in West Virginia and Southeastern Ohio. Early in the year the Pine Grove extension, in Wetzel county, looked very promising and capable of furnishing a large amount of new production, but as development work progressed the territory was found to be spotted and the few large wells found were very much of the freak kind. Before the year had half gone the Folsom district was in the same position and has been steadily growing worse each month.

On the Ohio side, the Trail Run district, Monroe county, considerable new production was expected from that quarter, but active developments had not more than fairly started when small wells instead of gushers became the rule and for some months the production of the pool has been declining and the producing limits of the territory has not only been fully defined, but developed as well.

On several occasions other new discoveries were made in Monroe county. Northwest of Woodsfield, the gusher on the George Wahl farm furnished a striking illustration of how the talent was deceived by a single good producer that was expected to open a new pool.

One the surprises of the week was the way the Philadelphia Company's test on the Sarah Anderson farm, located on Churches Fork, near Burton, Wetzel county, responded when it was given a shot early in the week. The first 24 hours after the shot was exploded the well produced 350 barrels and gave rise to the opinion that it was a first-class producer, despite the irregularity with which it had been producing for the time it had been drilled into the fourth sand. However, another surprise followed close after the first for the well for the second 24 hours after shot produced but 150 barrels and is steadily declining. Standing alone as it does it should have showed better staying qualities. In the vicinity of this well there are some six or eight new tests drilling or starting, and it will be interesting to note the result of these ventures. Should the first well prove nothing more than a freak the loss to those who invested in adjacent territory will be considerable. Heavy bonus money was paid for some of the leases after the Anderson farm well came in, and the showing seemed at the time to warrant the outlay.

On Kinchlo creek in Harrison and Lewis counties, and the Fairview district, in Marion county, the fifth sand developments show considerable activity. In both there is test work under-way looking for extensions to the producing limits. This territory is even more expensive to operate than the Gordon, and operators are disposed to be cautious as to starting any great amount of new work. In Lewis county, the gas companies are the most active developers at this time.

The shallow sand district, in Tyler county, failed to present any new well of importance. At Middlebourne the South Penn company got a very light pumper on the King farm, and on Middle Island creek Schall & Co. drilled in a rather important test on the Conway heirs' farm and got a very light pumper in the Big Injun. There has in the past six months been a good deal of testing in that locality, but they have not succeeded in finding an outlet to the first two fair producers.

Rowe & Co. were not content with a duster in the Big Injun on the Thomas farm, but drilled through the Gordon and fifth sands and had no better success. A fair gas pressure was developed in the Gordon after the well had been given a shot. This was the first well in that locality to be put through the fifth sand, and for that reason is of some importance as a test.

One light producer was all the Wick district contributed. This development has been furnishing some very creditable wells, the best being the Carter Oil Company's No. 6 on the J. W. Ankrom, which is still holding up at 340 barrels a day.

On Yellow creek, Calhoun county, there was a lull in completed work during the week. But three wells were drilled in and all proved producers. Two are Berea grit wells and the other, the South Penn company's No. 3 on the R. E. Gardner farm, is showing for a Maxon sand producer. This district has more new work starting than any other in the lower southwest. With the exception of the No. 1 on the R. E. Gardner farm, all have fallen below the 100-barrel a day mark.

Operators on the Ohio side are still finding some very fine producers in the Wolf Creek district, near the line of Morgan and Washington counties. There is very marked activity in that locality, but it is located inside of defined limits. There is no room for a field and the most that can be expected is a slight increase in production until the territory has been developed and then a rapid decline.

SUBWAY TAVERN WAS DENOUNCED

The Rev. Dr. Rees Scores the Action of Bishop Potter in Dedicating Saloon.

SHIELDED ONLY BY NAME

"Bishop Potter's Subway Tavern," was the subject of the sermon delivered in the Smithfield Methodist Episcopal church last night by the pastor, the Rev. Dr. W. H. W. Rees. Dr. Rees took for his text St. Matthew vii:17, "A corrupt tree bringeth forth evil fruit," and said in part:

If the devil were dressed up in the robes of a pope would he be less a devil than he is? Does the garment indicate the character of the wearer? If one misappropriates funds is it less a theft because called by a softer name? Is a lie not a lie when called a prevarication? Is a "subway tavern" where intoxicating drinks are sold any less damning in its influence than its neighbor around the corner known by the plain name of saloon?

Does the beer sold in a saloon dedicated by a bishop and in which the doxology—a hymn of praise to the Holy Trinity—is sung, produce any better drink or bring any holier shame than the beer sold in a saloon? In other words can even a high dignitary of a good church, by any word or blessing he may be able to give, make respectable that which has forever been damning in its influence, or right that which is wrong?

The distinguished bishop of New York, without the sanction of the church of which he is a leader, seeks to reform men by putting within the easy reach of certain so-called poor people, the privileges of the club, less pretentious to be sure, than where the bishop sips his wine, but with an air of respectability, where a poor man can bring his wife and daughter and have them learn the drink habit. The good bishop seeks to have the lion and the lamb lie down together in a saloon. It that occurs it will be because the lamb is inside of the lion.

The drink traffic of this state pays into the state treasury $1,800,000, while it costs the state $16,000,000 to care for the victims which drink has produced. Poor industry that. Looked at from any standpoint the saloon is an abomination.

SUNDAY GAZETTE PRINTS NEWS FROM ALL SOURCES

War, Politics and General Topics Filled the Pages in the Sections of the Big Paper.

The wild dash of the Port Arthur fleet which proved so disastrous to the Russian navy was fully described in The Sunday Gazette, with details of the fighting, the losses and the final disposal of the escaping ships. The [illegible] offered shelter at Dalny to all non-[illegible] in the beleaguered city. The Japanese [illegible] to have taken the Russian [illegible] and [illegible] another [illegible] Harbin the Chinese governor [illegible] Japanese army. The [illegible] events of the day in the [illegible] besides much other war news was printed.

The "solid south" will be invaded by the Republicans during the presidential campaign and a hard fight made everywhere, the hustlers to get the patronage. Senator P. C. Knox will be the most prominent campaign speaker and one address has been arranged for Pennsylvania. Charles M. Schwab told some of his philanthropic plans to build manual training schools. There is every indication of a bitter billet war.

The issues between this country and Turkey were settled on Saturday to the satisfaction of both powers. Ten merrymakers were drowned in the Potomac river by the capsizing of a steam launch.

Father of the Italian boy kidnapped in New York refused to aid the police, believing his son would be returned to him. Outbreak of Citizens councilmen against the administration will begin with the new franchise ordinances for the Pittsburgh Railways Company are brought up. The crusade against disorderly houses in the business section downtown will be pushed by those behind it.

Mayor Harrison of Chicago is to be asked today to become mediator in the packers' strike. Investigation of "graft" charges in Allegheny hung fire. Negro family was poisoned and the husband died. Trolley line is being surveyed to Clairton.

More sensational details of the eviction of Attorney Strawbridge from the Americus club come to light in a petition for reduction of bail and its answer. Select Councilman George S. Fleming died.

Pittsburgh lost game to Boston, 1 to 0.

Major Delmar equals Cresson' world's record at Empire track. P. A. C. defeated in 14 innings at Johnstown. Homestead L. A. C. beats pick of Steel league by a large score.

New York bank loans, deposits and reserves increased. Stock market buoyant, closing at the best. Wheat traders are wary of long market and September closes slightly off.

Besides there were many special articles that were not only timely but funny or interesting, with choice news from all the capitals of the world. Amateur sports were fully covered and there were all the usual departments.

Does Advertising Pay?

Over and over again, every day at almost every interview we hear the question or the assertion that it does not.

It does pay; no argument, no proof of actual failures can stand against it. It pays, pays well, pays better in proportion to its cost than any other asset in a man's business.

There are advertisers who are not deriving the full benefit from their advertising expenditure, just as there are others who lose money who lose in the attempt to do the impossible, but these things are so for good reasons. One might just as well say that business is not profitable because some men fail.

If advertising is not a profitable means of increasing general business, then all business would be unprofitable. Ever since men have done business they have advertised. The advertising has been the ways and means of attracting business. It was only when the art of printing was so improved that people of every station in life could afford to read newspapers and magazines, and railroad and postal facilities allowed easy and rapid intercourse between widely separated points, and business men reached out farther from home than business men that it came to discover that newspaper and periodical advertising was the cheapest method they could find to make their claims for business to those who bought and those who sold their wares.

It made possible the great department stores; it has made salable practically every article of merit in demand which these stores have upon their counters. Without this means of cheaply telling about their wares the great stores of today could not attract sufficient purchasers to pay their rents.

There are few who will assert that all the chocolates of merit are made by a few well known firms, but these firms have business in chocolate so extensive that their names and chocolate are always associated. Why?

It is folly to assert that Royal Baking Powder is the only good pure baking powder in the market, yet the woman who sends her husband to the grocer for baking powder will, in nine cases out of ten, have him come home with Royal. Why?

There are other good cameras than those made by the Eastman Company, yet who fails to ask the camera owner: "Is that a kodak?" Why?

It is quite possible that with intent to buy a rain coat or skirt, though there are thousands of makes, you would ask for Cravenette. Why?

Douglas, Regal, Crawford, Ralston, or any one of a dozen makes of shoes may be on your feet. You will go far to duplicate them. Hundreds of others are really "just as good," but you want a certain "go." It suits you better for you think it so. Then any other. Why?

Whether it be a hat, a necktie, a gun, [illegible] dress or coat, you have your favorite makes, with chances in favor of that [illegible] having been popularized in some way by special effort on the part of the maker. Whatever the method, it was advertising, and today the most popular method of advertising, because it has been proven to be the most efficacious, as well as the cheapest of all methods, is newspaper advertising.

HOW SIN BRINGS CERTAIN PUNISHMENT IN THE FUTURE

Pastor Russell Addresses Large Crowds in Opera House at Scottdale, Pa.

GOES NEXT WEEK TO BOSTON

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

SCOTTDALE, PA., Aug. 14.—Pastor C. T. Russell of Allegheny, Pa., preached here twice today at the Opera house. Next Sunday he is expected to preach at "The People's Temple," Boston. The afternoon discourse was on "God's Oath-Bound Covenant to Abraham and His Seed," and was listened to by a large house with close attention. The morning address, which was on "The Certainty of Punishment for Sins," was as follows:

We take for our text the words of the apostle in 1 Timothy v:24: "Some men's sins are open beforehand (manifested), going before to judgment: and some men they follow after."

The axiom, "He who sins must suffer," is an old one, well supported by scriptural testimony and in accord with all human conceptions of justice. The apostle's statement in our text accords with this. Suggesting that some, but not all, receive the reward of their evil doing in the present life, he assures us that those not rewarded for their evil doings in the present life will meet their just desserts in the future. Some have larger accusativeness than others, and thus a greater ability to hide their evil sentiments and deeds and to escape their just opprobrium and natural consequences; some others possess qualities or are surrounded by circumstances which seem to prosper them in their unrighteous ways—down to the very close of the present life. If there were no future life, no future retribution, no difference in the future between those who have wrought righteousness and those who have wrought evil—no difference, either, between those who have received rewards for their sins in the present life and those who have been successful in evil doing—if these were to be the conditions of the future, there would seem to be a great inequality as respects the divine arrangement. But the more we know of the purposes of the divine plan in respect to sin and sinners in the present and in the future, the more we are impressed with the wisdom, justice, love and power to be exercised toward all by the great Creator.

One great difficulty met with in considering this subject is the very false conceptions of justice generally entertained among civilized people, coming down to us of the present day from our progenitors from the dark ages. For nearly 15 centuries the Christian world was evidently asleep as respects the exercise of sound reasoning on religious subjects, and particularly in respect to the divine character and plan of dealing with mankind. Under the blinding influence of Satan, crimes were committed in the name of God, not only against love, but also against justice. In the name of divine love and justice human beings were racked, tortured with red-hot irons, had their nails pulled out with pincers, had their ears and mouths filled with molten lead, had their tongues cut out, had their eyes gouged out, were cut with knives, were burned at the stake—in a word, all that a devil could do or think of doing was done in the name of the God of love and mercy and justice. Is it any wonder that men possessed of such evil dispositions, such cruelty, so lacking in justice and love—so lacking in the spirit of holiness, should have had gross misconceptions of the divine character and attributes? Is it any wonder that the creeds formulated by these men and under their auspices, or later by those who followed in the same line, still contained their errors—is it any wonder that these creeds contain gross errors which thoroughly misrepresent the divine justice and mercy in respect to sin and its penalty?

From the Prince of Darkness.

We need not wonder, we do not wonder, that to a large extent these wicked sentiments inspired by the prince of darkness have attached themselves to the thoughts and writings of well-intentioned people living since the dark ages. The gross darkness which gradually developed during the second, third and fourth centuries of the Christian era, and which was a horror of darkness upon the whole of Europe from then until the sixteenth century, should require an equal length of time to be thoroughly gotten rid of. Nay! We need not wonder if it should require longer time to get rid of error than to come under its influence, for such is always the case. The great adversary instigates the error still, and seeks to propagate it in various forms "as an angel of light to deceive." (2 Cor. xi:14.) Moreover, the fallen condition of our race points naturally downward and needs continually to be assisted to the higher and better and purer and truer sentiments.

The fault of present-day teachings of Christendom respecting the wages of sin is not because they teach that sin will be punished, but because they totally misrepresent the punishment. They teach that which enlightened Christian human judgment cannot accept. And teaching this in the name of God and the Bible, they misrepresent both, bringing both into contempt, and thus not only make void the true teachings of the divine word, but shake the confidence of all intelligent people as respects the divine inspiration of the scriptures, and thus, in the name of God, in the name of the Bible, in the name of Christ, are spreading infidelity.

Is it not time that Christian people should awake to a realization of the error, which, as a great nightmare, has afflicted the best of them and which now is not only threatening but effecting the overthrow of all faith among Christians of all denominations? It is time for the truth to be told and hence, to the extent of our ability, you and I and all who would be faithful to God and to His word should cry aloud and spare not the error. God's true people must be awakened even though the spirit of the world, the spirit of indifference, the spirit of doubt, the spirit of ease, the spirit of sectarianism, all urge them to slumber on, saying, "Peace, peace, when there is no peace"—when the time has come that the word of God and His character are being assailed, not only by infidelity from without, but also by so-called new theology and higher criticism from within the nominal church.

Higher Critics Disowned.

But, says some one, the new theology and the higher critics quite agree with you that there is to be no eternal torment; in fact, you will find that very few ministers and very few intelligent laymen believe in such a doctrine. Why, then, stir up the matter? Why discuss the matter, when the whole civilized world is gradually coming over to the same view?

We reply that in the foregoing argument is the very necessity which should and does appeal to us and to all who are loyal to God's word. So far as the Bible is concerned, the new theology, higher criticism and evolution theories are all so much of infidelity garbed under religious forms, using language in such a manner as to deceive the unsuspecting and illiterate. These theories are being preached throughout the whole civilized world, and thousands of Christian people are not aware that their well-paid instructors have abandoned all thought of the inspiration of the scriptures, all thought of an Edenic fall making necessary a redemption, all faith in a ransom of sinners from the condemnation of original sin and its penalties. Said teachers do indeed agree with us that eternal torment would be unjust as well as unloving, but they have reached their conclusion on the lines of higher criticism—they have reached their conclusion on the supposition that they are wiser, better informed and more logical than were Jesus and His apostles.

Our position on the contrary, is that the Bible is a divine revelation, that it is true, that its presentation of the divine character and plan show them to be just, loving, reasonable and harmonious. We with the higher critics, evolutionists, etc., who have become so wise in their own conceits that they need not the wisdom that cometh from above, need not the word of God. Our endeavor, on the contrary, is to awaken those who still believe in the Bible as God's word, to show them that its teachings have been misrepresented to them through the creeds of the dark ages, and that the Bible itself is grand and its presentations just and loving and logical to the last degree. We feel more and more the necessity for our presentations on this subject, because day by day those who have abandoned the scriptures as not inspired, as the work of men inferior to themselves in wisdom and justice, are insidiously undermining the faith of believers in general, and before a great while all who do not resolve the true view of the scriptures will be sure to be led astray by the erroneous views which misrepresent and reject them.

In other words, in the light of present-day intelligence, no thinking man or woman can very much longer believe in the doctrine of eternal torment—that it is the portion of all except the saints, the "very elect." That doctrine is already repudiated by the hearts of all good people, and the heads of the same class must repudiate the doctrine sooner or later. The whole question is, will they repudiate it on scriptural grounds, and because they see that the scriptures do not teach it, or will they repudiate it, and, thinking that the scriptures do teach it, repudiate the scriptures also?

We have already pointed out that the scriptures specifically declare that God's penalty against sin is death—extinction. We have pointed out that Adam came under this penalty and that all of his children share it with him, but that God, in mercy, provided a redemption—that Christ died as Adam's substitute, and in redeeming him from everlasting extinction He redeemed also all who shared that sentence through heredity. We have pointed out that it is because of this redemptive work of Christ that eternal life has been offered during this gospel age, in limited measure, to some of the peoples of the world, chiefly those residing in Europe and their descendants in America, and to a very few of the other numerous peoples of Africa and Asia. We have pointed out that the present offer of eternal life, through faith and obedience, is limited still more by the fact that in the favored nations of Europe and America only a few have "ears to hear" and hearts to appreciate and understand the offer. We have pointed out that this is a part of the divine plan, by which a special class, a "little flock," is being gathered out of every nation, people, kindred and tongue, to constitute a glorious company of associates with the Lord Jesus in His kingdom. We have pointed out that His kingdom, for which He taught us to pray, is yet to come, is yet to be established in power and great glory under the whole heavens, and that it will control the world and suppress evil and cause the knowledge of the Lord to fill the whole earth, and ultimately bring about the conditions foretold, in which every knee shall bow and every tongue confess to the Lord, when God's will shall be done on earth as it is done in heaven. All this present and future opportunity for the world of mankind to return to harmony with God and to live everlastingly, both of which were lost by Adam in Eden, pivots upon the great ransom sacrifice which our Lord Jesus accomplished "for the sins of the whole world."

Everything Dependent on Redemption.

Had there been no redemption from the original sin there would have been no grounds on which to invite men to obedience to God, to righteous living. As the apostle declares, if there be no resurrection of the dead, let us eat, drink and be merry, for tomorrow we die. Death being the sum of the penalty against the race, everything that any man could do in the present life could have done no more than hasten the extinction to which he had already been condemned. But God having provided through Christ opportunities for future eternal life for all, it follows that each member of Adam's race on learning of this should be glad—indeed the message is called good tidings, gospel.

Upon learning further, that the terms upon which he may have eternal life will involve his personal co-operation with the Savior in opposing sin and degradation and unrighteousness in himself, he must realize that every downward step into sin and degradation means the greater difficulty in raising up out of such at some future time, if he ever would attain to the glorious perfection made possible to him—without the attainment of which he could have no hope for eternal life. Whoever sees this clearly sees a reason—the best of all reasons—for his resistance to the downward tendencies of his own fallen nature and the best of reasons also for assisting those about him to resist sin and to strive for the attainment of their noblest ideals.

This is exactly what the apostle taught when he said: "The times of former ignorance God winked at." That is to say, in former times when the world was ignorant of God's intention to provide a salvation and opportunity for eternal life, and when God had not revealed to mankind His purpose nor laid the foundation for the same in the redemptive work—the doings of the world under those conditions God winked at, disregarded, paid no attention to them. But, adds the apostle, "God now commandeth all men everywhere to repent." Why this change? Why command them now to repent and live godly, while He had sent no such message to them for over a thousand years previously?

The apostle answers our question, saying, "Because He (God) hath appointed a day in which He will judge the world in righteousness." This signifies a second judgment and thus implies that the sentence of the first judgment is to be set aside. The sentence of the first judgment was death, extinction, and it has been set aside by the great ransom sacrifice already referred to; and now, as a consequence of the setting aside of that first sentence upon man, all mankind is to be granted another judgment, that is, another trial, another opportunity to see to what extent past experiences have been profitable and which lessons of the divine dispensations will learn righteousness so heartily and so thoroughly as to pass divine inspection as worthy of life eternal. Whoever will not pass that inspection must die the second death—become extinct.

We have lots of God's redeeming grace in Christ and of our future hope of eternal life, we learn also that the words and acts, and specially the heart intentions of the present time as well as of the future will have to do with our ultimate acceptance, our ultimate attainment of "the gift of God, eternal life, through Jesus Christ our Lord." The heathen world knows not at all of this, and hence has much less responsibility than have we of Christian lands. Whatever their wrong-doings their responsibility for them is merely in proportion to their little light of conscience, likewise in Christian lands the responsibility of each individual is proportionate to his knowledge of God and of righteousness. From this standpoint, as we have already seen, the chief responsibility now is upon the "Royal Priesthood," the "sanctified" in Christ Jesus, who have been begotten of the Holy Spirit and hence have clearer views of the divine character. The apostle assures them that if they sin wilfully, intentionally, with full consent of their minds it will be to them the sin unto death, the second death, but if they sin through weakness, indecision, etc., they shall have stripes, corrections, "For every son whom He receiveth, He chasteneth." These stripes or punishments for transgressions that were partly through ignorance and partly through weaknesses are designed of the Lord to be corrective, to develop in His people the peaceable fruits of righteousness. Those of the church who receive corrections in the present life may be reckoned among those mentioned in our text whose sins go beforehand to judgment—they receive their chastisements and corrections now to the intent, as the apostle says, that their spirits may be saved in the day of the Lord Jesus—to the intent that they may be acceptable to Him at the end of this age when He sets up His kingdom.

Knowledge Measures Responsibility.

As for the sins of the world, the Christian world and the heathen world, all who are not of the fully consecrated church of Christ, their sins, as we have already stated, are proportionate to their knowledge of right and wrong, and their knowledge of right and wrong may come partly through association with the true church, partly through association with civilization and partly through the light of conscience not totally extinguished through the fall. As our text declares, with some of these the sin is manifest in this present life and brings upon the transgressor its natural reward or penalty—perhaps loathsome disease; perhaps mental, moral or physical weakness, perhaps the loss of friendship, sympathy, perhaps the loss of competence, perhaps the loss of liberty by imprisonment, etc. Nearly all receive some measure of retributive justice in the present life. Indeed, as the apostle declares, "The whole creation groaneth and travaileth in pain together." True, this pain and suffering, mental and physical, much distress, is largely the result of inherited weakness and depravity. But to whatever extent any one yields to sin in violation of his conscience, to that extent he is apt to increase his degradation and suffering.

It is far from our thought that the great mass of these poor creatures need some special torture in the future; the great majority, we believe, will not be called upon by the Lord to suffer anything additional, yet they will have a purgatorial experience, if we may so designate it; that is, the uplifting experiences of the millennial age will require the co-operation of each individual for his own deliverance. He will be obliged to fight against his own weaknesses, though he will have the assistance of the glorified Christ in his battle, and he will not have the opposition of Satan and of an adverse world, as then such are in the present time, because in the world's day of judgment or trial Satan will be bound and no longer deceive and put darkness for light and light for darkness, evil for good and good for evil. And the world, relieved from its ignorance and superstition and blindness, and brought under control of the great kingdom, will no longer be the opponent of righteousness.

As to how the judgment of some men's sins will follow after them into the future life—as to how, after their awakening from the sleep of death, they will have varying experiences corresponding to their use or abuse of present knowledge and opportunities, is an interesting question. Protestant views in general would cast all such into a fiery torture which, the creeds assure us, will be never ending, hopeless. No attempt is made to show gradations of punishment proportionate to the sins and weaknesses of the culprit. And while it will be admitted that some of this class have been generous and kind in the present life, and have given cups of cold water in the name of a disciple, and according to the Lord's declaration should have a reward for so doing, no plan or arrangement for the mitigation of their sufferings is even suggested. In this respect the views of Protestants are more inconsistent than those of Romanists, who attach sufferings and tortures lasting for decades and centuries and thousands of years for various sins, but, nevertheless, hold out a hope that eventually the culprit may escape the torture. All of these views have the appearance and odor of the dark ages; they are unmerciful, unreasonable, unjust, loveless. To torture any creature for years or centuries for the evil deeds of an hour or even of a lifetime, would be most horrible injustice and totally ungodlike. Furthermore, all such unscriptural views of future punishment for sin are inferior to present worldly conceptions on such subjects. Our penitentiaries of the present time are backed by a better sentiment, and are much more in accord with what the Lord proposes as the future punishment for sin.

Some Will Awake to Shame.

Through the Prophet Daniel, the Lord gives a brief pen picture of those who will come forth from the tomb during the millennium. They are divided into two classes, a similar division to that which our Lord makes in His account of the same. (John v:28-29.) Our Lord said, All that are in their graves shall come forth, those who at heart have been loyal to Him and sought their best to do His will, however imperfect their accomplishment, are classed as the "good"—as those who have divine approval and shall come forth to a life-resurrection—raised completely out of sin and death conditions up to perfect life conditions. All the remainder of mankind, disapproved of the Lord because they have not done to the best of their ability, come forth from their graves that they may have opportunity for a gradual raising up to perfection by "judgments," by the system of rewards and punishments which will prevail during the millennial age.

Those who will submit to the judgments of that thousand-year day of judgment, will, under the Lord's discipline, guidance and assistance, obtain full perfection; while all who will persistently resist the reign of righteousness will be cut off from life in the second death. The picture of these same great matters given through the Prophet Daniel touches another side of the question, and shows us more what will be the experiences of the world during that millennium of uplift or restoration from sin-and-death conditions. The account reads, "Many that sleep in the dust of the earth shall awake, some to everlasting life, and some to shame and everlasting contempt." (Dan. xii:2.) Those who come forth to a life-resurrection will be approved of the Lord, the "good." Those coming forth to shame and lasting contempt are the world in general, who have not approved themselves to God by the acceptance of Christ and obedience to His counsel to the best of their ability. Their shame and lasting contempt will be incidental to the judgments by which they will be rewarded and punished according to their conduct during the millennium.

As we have already seen, the living generations of the world will be dealt with before any are awakened from the sleep of death, and that they will make rapid progress under the instructions of that time is beyond question; the knowledge of the Lord shall fill the whole earth promptly, speedily. Secondly, when the awakening processes begin, many will find themselves well known, through the teachings of history, to those already well advanced in knowledge and character development. Moreover, the art of phrenology, character reading, and possibly mind reading, will be well advanced; and we may well suppose the shame covering many of the awakened ones as they find the secrets of their lives and the meanness of their characters known to all about them. Their condition will naturally draw upon them the contempt of each other, as well as of those by that time more advanced in character development. Some have had such an experience as this in the present life, and sometimes to their profit and reformation, their sins were open, going before hand to judgment; but others have succeeded in cloaking their real sentiments and character in the present life, and these will have double shame and contempt when they shall come forth from the tomb in the awakening of the millennial day. Will not this be torture enough? Will it not be punishment enough?

The prophet declares that they come forth to everlasting shame and contempt; but the Hebrew word "olam," here translated everlasting, does not signify without end, but literally means—to an end, to a completion. We can readily discern that under the new conditions those coming forth to shame and lasting contempt will continue to be under that shame and contempt until they shall have gotten upon the reform road and shall have gotten a reasonable distance thereon, with knowledge and perseverance marking a conversion from sin to righteousness. In proportion as their restitution shall progress mentally, morally and physically, in that same proportion their shame and contempt shall diminish, so that by time they shall have reached perfection, under the Lord's guidance and instruction, none of the shame and none of the contempt will remain. Thus eventually the most degraded and most degraded, by obedience to the laws of the Kingdom, may become absolutely pure, absolutely perfect, even in the Lord's sight, and be accounted worthy of life everlasting.

Reformatory Judgments to Come.

Such is the reasonable scriptural view of the judgments present and to come. How different from those that have come to us from the dark ages! It will be seen, too, that in this, the Lord's method of dealing with the world, outlined in the scriptures, there is a close correspondence to the latest and best methods of dealing with criminals throughout Christendom. The criminals are put under strict laws and regulations, but obedience to these brings a reward, greater liberties and privileges, and ultimately the quicker release—or brings penalties proportionate to the willfulness and viciousness of the culprit. We can see, too, that whatever undermines character in the present life, by sin, by violation of his own conscience, is thus laying up for himself a more difficult task for the future, when all these weaknesses of character must be offset, must be compensated for by the longer and more tedious upbuilding of the same, with the possibility that the disgrace and depravity will have gone so far and will have so weakened and impaired the conscience as to make recovery in the future doubtful.

I cannot hope that every one in this audience is a true, consecrated believer in the Lord Jesus Christ, and thus a member of the church of the first-born, whose names are written in heaven. Upon others a desire to impress the thought of the apostle in our text, that disregard of the divine will and the law of righteousness is sure to bring its penalty either in the present life or in the one that is to come. This lesson to all such is that they should make all possible haste to put themselves on the side of righteousness, in their hearts and in their conduct now, and they should realize that the present life is at most a vestibule to the larger and greater opportunities of the future; that wisdom now directs in the same course that she will direct by and by, and that the sooner her voice is heard and obeyed the greater will be the blessing both for the present and for the future life. And to those of you who are of the consecrated church of the Lord, let me suggest that while our subject has dealt largely with the world and its present and future punishments for sin, nevertheless the same question applies to the church and with peculiar force, for if we are the Lord's we have "a guarantee that our sins shall go to judgment beforehand, in the present life—except we be reprobate.

Thus we see that among the Lord's people are two classes. They must all expect to suffer, for it is written: "Through much tribulation shall ye enter the kingdom." Again that class of the church which will not be accounted worthy of a share in the kingdom, but will be granted, nevertheless, everlasting life—the great company of Revelation vii:9, who ultimately will stand before the throne as servants instead of being honored with the little flock in the throne as the bride, who will get palms of victory as overcomers, but who will fail to get the crown which the Lord has promised to His footstep followers—this class of the church also will pass through tribulation, as we read (v:14), "These are they which came out of great tribulation, and have washed their robes and made them white in the blood of the Lamb. Therefore are they before the throne of God, and serve Him day and night in His temple."

See, then, that the church, the little flock, must have tribulation as disciplines and testings in harmony with their covenant, and that the "great company," less zealous, will also pass through tribulation, we inquire, in what way are the two classes of tribulations different? In what way do the experiences of these two classes of the church represented by the priests and Levites in the type—in what respects do their sufferings differ? We answer that the little flock, filled with the spirit of the Lord, so enter into the joys of their Lord that their sacrifices and sufferings and self-denials for His sake seem to them but the light affliction, but for a moment, not worthy to be compared with the glory that shall be revealed in us. This class is enabled to rejoice in tribulation and in everything to give thanks.

Evidently the Apostle Paul and his companion Silas belonged to this class, when, with bleeding backs in the Roman prison, at midnight, they were able to thank God for the privilege of being His servants, and to chant forth in a hymn of praise. The greater company of the Lord's followers, less faithful, less filled with the spirit of zeal and self-sacrifice, feel their trials and difficulties and self-denials and sacrificing keenly, even though their sacrifices be of themselves much less. Their lives are full of trouble, with much less of the Lord's grace and peace and joy to offset the adverse world, as then such are in the present time, because in the world's day of judgment or trial Satan will be bound and no longer deceive and put darkness for light and light for darkness, evil for good and good for evil. And the world, relieved from its ignorance and superstition and blindness, and brought under control of the great kingdom, will no longer be the opponent of righteousness.

As to how the judgment of some men's sins will follow after them into the future life—as to how, after their awakening from the sleep of death, they will have varying experiences corresponding to their use or abuse of present knowledge and opportunities, is an interesting question. Protestant views in general would cast all such into a fiery torture which, the creeds assure us, will be never ending, hopeless. No attempt is made to show gradations of punishment proportionate to the sins and weaknesses of the culprit. And while it will be admitted that some of this class have been generous and kind in the present life, and have given cups of cold water in the name of a disciple, and according to the Lord's declaration should have a reward for so doing, no plan or arrangement for the mitigation of their sufferings is even suggested. In this respect the views of Protestants are more inconsistent than those of Romanists, who attach sufferings and tortures lasting for decades and centuries and thousands of years for various sins, but, nevertheless, hold out a hope that eventually the culprit may escape the torture. All of these views have the appearance and odor of the dark ages; they are unmerciful, unreasonable, unjust, loveless. To torture any creature for years or centuries for the evil deeds of an hour or even of a lifetime, would be most horrible injustice and totally ungodlike. Held Services for Deaf Mutes.

Services in the sign language were conducted yesterday morning and afternoon in Trinity church chapel, Sixth avenue, by the Rev. Austin W. Mann, general missionary of the Episcopal church among deaf mutes in the mid-western dioceses. Holy communion was celebrated in the morning. Next Sunday is known as deaf mute Sunday, an anniversary of the healing of a deaf mute by Christ. Special services will mark the occasion.

Held Union Service on Hilltop.

Congregations of Homewood held an outdoor union service yesterday afternoon on Bruston hill, near Brushton avenue. Neighboring clergymen delivered short addresses, which were followed by a song service.

INCREASE OF 65,000.

Attendance at the World's Fair Last Week Was a Record Breaker.

WORLD'S FAIR GROUNDS, ST. LOUIS, Aug. 14.—The admissions last week show an increase over the previous six days, which was the largest total since the opening of the exposition. The increase last week was 65,000. The figures follow:

Monday, August 8, 128,725; Tuesday, 96,640; Wednesday, 100,781; Thursday, 109,605; Friday, 104,754; Saturday, 126,102; total, 866,607.

Recapitulation: April, one day, 187,793; May, 26 days, 1,001,331; June, 26 days, 2,-124,836; July, 27 days, 2,348,557; August, 12 days, 1,268,018; grand total, 6,925,535.

CHAUTAUQUA

CHAUTAUQUA, N. Y., Aug. 14.—(Special.)—Dr. Jesse L. Hurlbut conducted the Bible study at the amphitheater this morning and chose as his subject "A Study of the Book of Jonah." Several hundred members of the C. L. S. C. met in Miller park and proceeded to the amphitheater, where seats had been reserved for them. Bishop Vincent preached a sermon for the class of 1904. His text was from Hebrew vi:1: "Let us go on unto perfection." After a few words of encouragement for continuation of their work to the class of 1904, Bishop Vincent said: "A man is to be pitied who is satisfied with his past and has not outgrown it, who remains in bondage to the ideals of his childhood and takes delight in walks where he learned the alphabet. I pity the man whose best religious experiences lie back 30 or 40 years. Cease to speak of the first principles of Christianity and go on to perfection. I make an appeal to you for a more advanced life intellectual and spiritual and hope to incite you to greater diligence to seek the life of perfection. There must be some practical lesson in the commands and promises by which the scriptures recommend perfection to us. We are commanded to be perfect even as our Father in heaven is perfect. Perfection must be possible. Some of us give so little thought about Christian life that when we are talked to about perfection we draw back and say it is not for us and so dismiss the subject. The perfect Christ revealed the perfect Father and requires of us perfection. There is a certain completeness and perfection to which, as followers of Christ, we are bound to seek. Whatever is begun and carried through to its legitimate end is perfect. The perfecting of thought is in the deed. The thinker becomes to the doer. This is what a soul is for—to bring a thing to pass. To think and desire is to do and to be. Members of the class of 1904, this is a day of reminiscence. Having reached the end of the beginning, you must continue in growth. Do not stop on graduation day nor let your growing be interrupted to the day of death. Perfectual progress is the law of laws. Perfect civilization depends on perfect units. Let us study the word and works of God. Let us never be discouraged but go on to perfection."

The assembly convocation was conducted by Dr. W. B. Forbush, who spoke on "Better Sunday Schools."

Mr. A. M. Schover addressed an overflow ethics meeting for boys and girls and interested the older people present as much as he did the youthful part of his audience.

Bishop Vincent discussed the meaning and mission of the "Aula Christi" when he conducted the C. L. S. C. vesper service.

The men's and women's meetings were combined and the address was made by Mr. E. D. Soper of the Young People's Forward Movement.

At the sacred song service the new soloists, who have been engaged for the remainder of the season, made their initial appearance at this service.

MUSIC IN THE PARKS.

Traction Pleasure Grounds Present Good Programs—Sensational Vaudeville Feature and Bicycle Turn.

Good music, both vocal and instrumental, characterized the entertainment offered at the traction parks yesterday afternoon and evening, when four concert bands and enough special concert entertainers to make up a fair-sized troupe were on the platforms, in addition to other attractions.

Maj. Mort Epler's Rough Rider band, from Blaney's "Across the Pacific" company, played at Calhoun park. Selections from several well known operas were played, while all the members of the Crimmins & Gore comedy company, which played at Southern last week, sang. It was a good bill all through.

Nirella's Fourteenth regiment band played at Oakwood, with the Excelsior Quartet of singers. While selections of celebrated operas were features of the programs, there were a number of well executed descriptive numbers.

Southern park had the Third regiment band, directed by Jean DeBacker. Hilaire Motte was flugelhorn soloist. Miss Amy Whaley, for some time soloist with the United States Marine band, sang in the afternoon and evening.

Kennywood had an extremely sensational free act outside the steepelchase building, while the concerts were given by the Second brigade band. The act is the daring bicycle turn of Rose & Lemon, who nightly have combined looping-the-loop with the cyclewhirl, for they have an immense hollow sphere inside of which they whirl around on its latticed surface, first on a horizontal plane, then obliquely, then in a vertical plane like looping-the-loop.

The Homestead Library band will give concerts all this week at Kennywood, with Rose & Lemon as the free attraction. Southern and Oakwood parks will both have strong vaudeville bills.

PITTSBURGHERS IN LONDON.

Visitors from This City at Different Hotels—H. C. Frick Going on Auto Tour.

LONDON, Aug. 14.—(Special Cable.)—Mrs. J. Blair Scribner, Mrs. Skidmore and Mr. and Mrs. Skidmore Barrett of Pittsburgh have arrived in London and are staying at Claridge's hotel for a short time before going on the continent.

Mr. H. C. Frick of Pittsburgh has arrived in London and is staying at the Carlton hotel. Mr. Frick, with Mr. and Mrs. Francis W. Bennett of Atlantic City, and Mr. J. H. Carstairs and Mr. J. B. Stinson of Philadelphia, will soon leave for the continent for a motor tour, visiting among other places Boulogne, Paris and Trouville.

STRENGTH AND ACTIVITY IS SHOWN BY STOCKS

Market at Stage Where There Is Inclination to Accept Speculative Risks in Cheaper and More Uncertain Grades of Investment.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—Stocks continued to improve with more display of strength and activity in the general market than has been witnessed since the reinvestment demand attending the mid-year disbursements. There was a slackening in the activity in the bond quarter of the market, and it was apparent that the speculative favorites were selected mainly from the cheaper class of stocks. Since the beginning of the fiscal year the course of speculation has followed the usual and familiar channel under circumstances such as exist in the business and financial world. Strengthening of the high-class bond issues took place as a result of the investment demand emanating from a much larger source than usual. The ease of money and the substantial advance in the bond market turned the demand into high-grade stocks.

Finally the market has reached a stage where there is an inclination to accept speculative risks in the cheaper and more uncertain grades of investment. It appears that there is at present at work, in a modified degree, a demand from all three quarters. High-class bond issues are still in demand, investors are still searching for the gilt-edged and tried preferred and common stocks of both railroad and industrial corporations, and the professional operator is doing his best to inveigle the still timid public to become interested in his wares. Three or four weeks ago, when the western speculators were displaying before the public the various speculative counters, which had been accumulated for sale, the public refused utterly to become interested. Possibly it was because they did not like the salesmen, with their rather loud barking and obtrusive methods. At any rate the effort failed. Now, however, a new group has appeared in the arena, seemingly more astute and more experienced in the machinery of the street. They follow at least beaten paths, and if the events of the last 10 days be considered, have displayed some skill in their operations. It seems to be the fact that of the public, a small portion at least, has been attracted. So far success has attended their efforts. Naturally the question has been asked, Will the second effort be successful and do existing conditions in the financial and commercial world justify the advances, which have resulted from the operations of the speculative coterie now dominating the market? Financial affairs have been very closely associated with the progress of the crops. Betterment reflected in that quarter was speedily seized upon and used as a factor in the stock market.

The favorable deductions made from the cotton report of the week previous were duplicated in the consideration of the grain report, although exception must, of course, be made in the case of wheat. Wall street naturally derived a great amount of benefit from these considerations. Notwithstanding the better and more hopeful feeling, because of the government's wheat figures, it seems to be carefully borne in mind by the well informed wheat figures do not form any basis for bullish enthusiasm in security markets. Beyond any doubt the yield this year will be one of the shortest in a decade. The expectation of a record-breaking yield of corn did much to stimulate into activity the new coterie of operators, whose final success is still in doubt.

Shares of the Steel Coroporation have advanced notwithstanding the severe price cutting that is in progress not only in the billet trade, but in plates, beams, sheets, tin plates and wires. The manufactured commodities have apparently been left to the open market and the exigencies of the seller, instead of the pools or associations now making prices. In the other branches besides the steel and iron trade similar conditions have prevailed. In the soft coal trade, for example, the price cutting has finally reached a point where it has struck bottom. The capture of the 110,000 tons order for the conversion of billets made by an independent steel company probably attracted more notice than the incident warranted, but it served to call attention in a forcible manner to the condition of the trade in steel and iron. Pool agreements and price associations go for naught after a prolonged period of dullness, and in the struggle which follows there ensues the survival of the fittest.

There has been over-trading and over-abundant creation of competing plants. Domestic consumption has fallen away and the most of manufacture is relatively too high to allow marketing of surpluses abroad. Gradually the selling prices of goods are being reduced, but the manufacturing cost remains stubbornly high. The evolution of the one must, of course, force like results in the other, and in the end this will come. Something in this direction will soon be tried at the Youngstown plants of the Carnegie Steel Company, where an effort is to be made to operate an open shop with reduced wages. Both parties to the effort are convinced that the attempt will fail, but in other directions in the industrial world similar occurrences have taken place with the result that economic laws have triumphed.

WHEAT TRADERS WARY OF LONG MARKET

Further Inroads on Values Cause September to Close One-Half Cent Off.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

CHICAGO, Aug. 13.—Weakness induced by continued marketing of long wheat which wary traders feared to carry over Sunday was the latest phase of a nervous market today. The price of September fell in consequence 2¼c from the highest point of the day, closing ⅜@½c under yesterday's final figures. Corn is down ⅛@⅜c; oats finished 1c off. Provisions are unchanged to 10c higher.

There were no urgent inducements to buy wheat in the early news. On the contrary the northwest reported the weather nearly perfect for the maturing grain. The result was further inroads on values. September opening ⅞c to 1¼c down at $1 00@1 00¼, with moderately free selling by local commission houses. Notwithstanding the lower prices there was apparently a feeling of confidence in the inherent strength of the market and this prevented the selling crowd from plunging. Most of the bears put out only small short lines and then rushed to cover at the first intimation of an upturn in prices. Such an upturn occurred when buying orders from outsiders came in. Minneapolis which at first was inclined to minimize the late crop damage reports sent in alarming messages and advanced prices there. The southwest, also appeared to become suddenly mistrustful of conditions. Both sessions sent buying orders and the local crowd changed front. Prices responded with a general advance, September touching $1 02¼. The strength was only fleeting, however. The new values proved too tempting for the bears and long lines to whom the crop damage news has become less terrifying and in the conflicting nature of which they scented danger of their holdings were carried over Sunday. A complete reversal of sentiment followed their realizing movement and before the market steadied again September had lost all of its previous gain and was back at the lowest figure of the opening range, $1 00. A partial recovery occurred in the last half hour when the bulls took hold of the market again, September rallying to $1 00⅝@1 00⅞ at the close. The tone of the finish, however, was weak. Clearances of wheat and flour were equal to 77,200 bushels. Primary receipts were 602,700 bushels against 521,400 bushels a year ago. Minneapolis, Duluth and Chicago reported receipts of 927 cars against 203 cars last week and 196 cars a year ago.

Corn was influenced largely by the action of wheat, though after the market started upward the bulls derived much additional courage from the talk of dry weather in the southwest. The lower prices of wheat at the start brought out offerings of corn in excess of buying orders and prices suffered. September opened ⅝@½c to ⅝@⅝c lower at 53@53⅛c. Later, houses with large southwest connections entered the market with liberal buying orders. A quick rally followed and the tone which had inclined toward strength became more decidedly strong. September scored an advance to 53¾c, but with the late decline in wheat the price broke to 53c. The close was easy at 53⅜c. Local receipts were 132 cars.

The oats market followed the same general trend as wheat and corn. The business was confined largely to commission houses. September started a shade to ¼c lower, at 33⅝c to 33⅜@33⅝c and advanced to 34¼c. The strength needed much bolstering, however, owing to heavy receipts with plenty of the grain in sight. Under free offerings at the advance a weak tone developed and prices declined, September going back to 33½c. The decline was checked by covering of short sales, and the price steadied. The close for September was at 33¾c. Local receipts were 353 cars.

Provisions were quiet and prices showed little change until near the close when scattered buying by pit shorts a scarcity of offerings combined to lift prices somewhat. September pork gained 10c at $11 60. Lard closed 2½c higher at $6 77. Ribs were unchanged at $7 45.

Estimated receipts for Monday: Wheat, 117 cars; corn, 98 cars; oats, 337 cars; hogs, 25,000 head.

REVIEW OF WEEK IN LOCAL MARKETS

Flour and Coffee Advanced. Home-Grown Vegetable Receipts Forced Prices Down.

An advance of 20 cents a barrel in the price of flour and a rise of ½ cent in coffee were the chief points of interest in the local food markets last week. The rise, following after another advance of 10 cents a barrel the previous week, was not unexpected, and a third advance is looked for unless wheat speculation subsides in Chicago. For a week local dealers have been selling flour at 10 cents under mill price. Most of them believe that dollar wheat is high enough, and hesitate to advance the price more. A decline of several cents in wheat would not materially affect the price of flour here, they say, as they must maintain present prices to protect themselves.

Saturday a stiff advance was noted in the prices of nearly all varieties of hams and ribs. Dry salt smoked sides were also marked up. The advance averaged about ½ cent a pound and will take effect tomorrow. The market for fresh meat is in much better shape than one week ago. The heavy receipts of cattle at the local stock yards, together with the shipments made by western packing houses, caused prices to assume a normal level, and butchers have had no trouble in getting all the meat they wanted.

Large receipts of home-grown vegetables have had a bad effect upon prices all the week. This was especially noticeable in green corn and tomatoes. Corn dropped steadily in price, until Saturday it could be bought in most places for 10 cents a dozen. Tomatoes held firm the early part of the week, owing to short receipts, but later were in large stock and of excellent quality. Peaches were very plenty the last of the week. The supply of cantaloupes was sufficient to glut the market and cause a considerable waste at the prolific patches. Other vegetables tended to lower prices, prominent among them being lima beans, cabbage, cucumbers, onions and potatoes.

Eggs were marked down 1 cent in midweek. Poultry was a trifle lower, the decline affecting spring chickens most. Butter and cheese remained firm at the previous week's quotations.

Receipts of oats were large and the supply moved off slowly. New hay was a drug in market several days, and few sales of importance were noted. More straw was in market and sold well. Middlings were scarce and bran was firmer in price owing to the wheat flurry in Chicago. Trading on the exchange was comparatively light and quotations remained stationary the latter part of the week.

LONDON MARKET IS DULL.

Number of Members of the Stock Exchange Have Gone Shooting in Scotland.

LONDON, Aug. 14.—(Copyright Cable.)—During the last week the stock exchange has been anything but busy, and the 19-day account which is now opening is pretty sure to be a period of almost absolute stagnancy. A number of stock exchange sportsmen have gone to Scotland for the grouse shooting.

Friday was stock exchange pay day, and the settlement was concluded with a rush, betokening the general anxiety to bring business to a close. Most of the heads of the big firms were absent, having left the final details of the settlement in the hands of subordinates. In point of fact the settlement gave no anxiety. There were no failures and the tone of the markets generally, considering that very little business was done, was fairly cheerful.

Overhauled by Russian Cruiser.

PLYMOUTH, ENGLAND, Aug. 14.—The Peninsular & Oriental line steamer Oceana, from Bombay for London, reports that a Russian cruiser stopped and examined the British-India Steam Navigation Company's steamer Goorkha on August 11 near Sagres (in the extreme southwest of Portugal and four miles southwest of Cape St. Vincent). The Goorkha was allowed to proceed.

LUCKY FORTY OFF FOR THE GAY PIKE

Chronicle Telegraph Newsies Begin Their Jolly Excursion to the World's Fair.

BIG CROWDS SAW THEM LEAVE

"All-a-board!"

"Jiminy, jiminee-ee!"

The stentorian voice of the conductor of the Wabash Flyer was drowned by the shrill exclamations of the "Lucky Forty." Slowly and smoothly the big train glided out of the Ferry street station, across the majestic cantilever bridge, through the Mt. Washington tunnel—then hundreds of miles away to St. Louis and its wonderland of glorious sights. The dreams of the Chronicle Telegraph newsies at last were realized. No wonder they exclaimed "jiminee-ee!" and "jiminunners!"

This happened yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock, when the winners of the Chronicle Telegraph newsies' prize contest were escorted in proud regalia to the Wabash station and safely and happily embarked upon a journey which promises to be an outing that will eclipse the doings around the most fantastic air castles of the average little breadwinner. All the stories of fairy books, all the gloated Indian tales, all the dreams of the great world outside, will be lived over and over again in actual life. No happier vacation sojourners ever left the Smoky city, and certainly no visitors at the big St. Louis show go in anticipation of a jollier time.

Charlie Schwab Backed Off.

"Talk about Charlie Schwab and his automobeel, or the Willie Vanderbilts, or Pierpont Morgan," said "Coffey," as the bunch marched proudly down Fifth avenue under the patriotic colors of the red and white umbrellas, "Dere not in it wid dis turnout o' bloated bondholders when weze got Ike Bailey fer de main speeler."

The boys gathered in the circulation rooms of the Chronicle Telegraph shortly after noon and received their new suits and baggage. Each boy was given a pair of white duck trousers, a black cashmere coat of extra light weight, a white linen hat, a suit case, an umbrella, a whistle and a package of cards bearing the names of all the members of the party. The cards are for the purpose of distribution among the legion of friends which the young travelers will make during the sojourn on the Pike. A neat blue silk badge adorned the left lapel of each coat. Hundreds of people on promenade in Fifth avenue gathered on the curbstone when the party started for the station. By the time the Market street corner was reached the crowd had increased to thousands, and at the station every available inch of standing room was occupied in the corridors and trainshed by the people who had come downtown for the express purpose of giving the "Lucky Forty" an enthusiastic sendoff.

Passengers on a Pullman.

Out through the gates they went, as proud as a globe-trotter on his first voyage. Lumps rose in the throats of some of the lads when they saw the big train and its magnificent cars standing there on the track pointed straight toward the famous city on the Mississippi. Of course the sight of the big train was not new to them, but it was the very first time in their lives that they had been privileged to step inside such a train as passengers.

The interior of a Pullman drawing room car was a revelation. Its gorgeous draperies, its cushions, its rich plush upholstery, its mirrors and its soft carpets made it literally a rolling palace in the eyes of the jolly tourists. A section was allotted to each quartet of boys and little Rose Pervin, the only newsgirl who accompanies the party, was given a stateroom all by herself, and will travel with all the luxury of an heiress.

And everybody said Rose deserved all the luxuries of a petted heiress, too. She is known to thousands of people downtown who see her about Smithfield street, winter and summer, in fair weather and foul, pushing her little brother, Sam, in a wheel-chair.

Sam's Gratitude to His Sister.

Providence decreed that poor Sam should never walk. He has a distressing affliction which crippled him in childhood, but it has not impaired his courage or his ambition, and Sam sells his papers to his hundreds of customers, while his faithful sister watches over him and guides the wheel-chair along his route. When the Chronicle Telegraph contest opened thousands of votes were cast for Sam and he was among the first prize winners. Sam said he would not be able to go and would gladly yield his place to Rose. She had been so faithful to him for years, he said, and here was a chance for him to show how grateful he felt. Rose would enjoy the big fair just like any other girl, and why should she not have that pleasure?

Consequently, Rose was enlisted in the ranks of the "Lucky Forty," and with a pretty white sailor suit and a jaunty little hat resting on the brown curls that wreathed her sweet face, she made a graceful companion for the boys. All the newsies know Rose and treat her with that respect and gallantry that is characteristic of the manly boy who is obliged to make his own way in the world.

Little Speech Before Starting.

Every member of the "Lucky Forty" had sunk deep into the luxurious cushions, in a few minutes the train would start. It seemed to the older lads that there should be some show of formalities, and John Finn, who sells "Telles" at the government building, and Louis Bacher, the Birmingham newsboy, hustled out on the platform and called for I. F. Bailey, circulation manager, and Mrs. Bailey.

"It strikes us that somebody ought to thank the Chronicle Telegraph," said "Finney," "and Mr. F. E. Carroll will now make the speech."

With this introduction Mr. Carroll, who claims all the newsies as his "faithful side-partners," thanked Mr. Bailey and the Chronicle Telegraph in a brief speech on behalf of the "Lucky Forty."

Then it was that the conductor shouted "All-a-board" and the lads felt the train glide away, taking them on the greatest trip of their lives, while with swelling hearts they gratefully exclaimed, "jiminee-ee!"

"DOC" HOWARD KILLED BY A WHITE WOMAN

Former Pitcher of Famous Cuban X Giants Falls Victim to a Bullet.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., Aug. 14.—Shot dead by a revolver in the hands of a white woman "Doc" Howard, one of the colored veterans of the Cuban Giants' team, who was released from that organization three years ago, when he lost power as a pitcher, lies at Rinehart's morgue in this city awaiting burial. He was killed instantly early this morning by Lottie Skile, who rented a room at Howard's house. They quarrelled several times Saturday evening, and when Howard entered her room the fighting was continued. According to her statement, he struck her in the face, and when she reproached him for striking a woman he started for a revolver. She reached it first and shot him at short range. The bullet pierced the brain and Howard fell to the floor dead. The woman acknowledges that she killed him, but claims it was in self-defense. She is now in jail charged with murder in the first degree.

Howard was widely known in baseball circles. Since his release from the Cuban team he has acted as official umpire for local teams. He was 36 years old. Recently he had been employed as a saloon helper.

LOST EYES AND HANDS IN DYNAMITING FISH

Should Cirrotta Recover He Will Be Arrested for Violating the Law.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

INDIANA, Aug. 14.—Joe Cirrotta, an Italian laborer working on the new buildings at the Normal school, met with an accident last night in which he lost both eyes and both hands, and was otherwise seriously injured. Cirrotta, in company with several others, was dynamiting for fish in Two Lick creek at the Fyock dam, near town, and a charge prematurely exploded.

Cirrotta was placed in the hospital department in the jail. An operation was performed upon him this afternoon by the jail physician. One arm was taken off close to the elbow and the other about half way up from the hand. His recovery is very doubtful. He is married, aged about 29 years and has a family living in Italy. Should he recover, Cirrotta, with his companions, will be arrested, charged with dynamiting fish.

FUGITIVE IS ARRESTED.

Italian Wanted in Jersey City for Assault Is Found in Fayette.

Dominick Faccone, wanted in Jersey City, N. J., on a charge of assault and battery, was arrested by City Detective Charles Aymer and Detective Vincent Ricco of Jersey City at Fayette City yesterday. The prisoner, it is alleged, struck Angelo Marino with a paving block on July 4, and the latter is in the Jersey City hospital in a dangerous condition.

Faccone was arrested three days after the assault and gave bail in $1,000 for a hearing. When Marino's condition became serious he disappeared and was traced to this city and then to Fayette City. Felice Paslangio, the bondsman, accompanied the detectives.

Killed by Fall of Slate.

GREENSBURG, PA., Aug. 14.—(Special.)—Elias Bermock, a miner of the Standard plant of the H. C. Frick Coke Company, was killed last night by a fall of slate.

The Three Rivers

CINCINNATI, O., Aug. 14.—(Special.)—The stage of the river at 6 o'clock this evening marked 43.8 and falling, making a fall of 1.8 feet during the last 24 hours. Weather clear and very warm. The excursion boats did an exceptionally heavy business today. There were no towboat movements. The packet departures were: Courier for Maysville, Indiana for Louisville.

GALLIPOLIS—River 3 feet 8 inches and stationary. Rain last night. Weather clear and warm.

STEUBENVILLE—River 1 foot 10 inches and stationary. Weather clear and warm. Packet Cricket, on her way from Wheeling last evening, stuck at Cox's riffle and remained there all night. She was gotten off this morning and came to this city.

WHEELING—River 2.3 feet and stationary. Cooler and clear. Down—H. K. Bedford, Parkersburg.

LOUISVILLE—River falling; 3.9 feet in canal; 1.7 feet on falls; 6.4 feet below locks. Clear and hot.

POINT PLEASANT—River 2 feet 4 inches and falling. Weather clear and warm.

MORGANTOWN—River 6 feet and stationary. Weather clear.

GREENSBORO—River 6 feet 2 inches. Weather fair and warm. Woodward down Monday; Columbia up.

OIL CITY—River 2 inches and stationary. Weather clear and pleasant.

The stage of water in the Ohio river, according to the gauges at Davis Island dam at 9 o'clock last night, was 2.8 feet and stationary.

UNITED STATES AHEAD IN OUTPUT OF IRON ORE

Production in 1903 Less Than Year Previous—Pennsylvania Shows Big Decline.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—The report of John Birkinbine to the geological survey on the production of iron ores in 1903, shows that the United States has surpassed all competitors in its yearly output of iron ores. The quantity of iron ore produced in the United States in the year ended December 31, 1903, was 35,019,308 long tons, a decrease of 534,827 long tons from 1902. The quantity mined in 1903 is, however, the second largest recorded and is greater than the combined totals for the year 1902 of Germany, Luxemberg and the British empire, which are the nearest competitors of the United States.

The iron ore obtained in 1903 came from 22 states and two territories. Minnesota, Michigan, Alabama and Wisconsin were the leaders in production. Nevada is added this year to the list of producing states, while Vermont and Montana reported no ore mined in 1903. The iron ore mined was of the four general commercial classes: red hematite, brown hematite, magnetic and carbonate.

The Lake Superior district stands preeminent as a producer of iron ore. Its annual output exceeds that of any foreign country, and the average character of its ore is excellent. The total value at the mines of the 35,019,308 long tons of iron ore produced in the United States in the year 1903, was $66,328,415, or $1.89 a ton, an increase of 5 cents a ton over the value a ton in 1902.

The state of Pennsylvania showed a decline of 22 per cent in production from the total of 1902, due almost entirely to the diminished output of one of the large mines, New Jersey showed an increase of nearly 10 per cent over 1902. Iron ore to the amount of 980,440 long tons, valued at $2,261,008, was imported in 1903.

TO BUILD PIPE LINE FROM KANSAS CITY TO WHITING

Standard Oil Company Will Lay One to Care for the Kansas Production.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

INDEPENDENCE, KAS., Aug. 14.—The Standard Oil Company has decided to build a six-inch pipe line from Kansas City to Whiting, Ind., to take care of the Kansas production. The runs of Kansas oil last month increased 4,555 barrels a day over the previous months. The only outlet is a pipe line to the big Whiting refinery. The Ohio and Indiana production will be pumped to the company's Jersey City refinery. The line from the Kansas and Indian territory fields, which will be about 300 miles long, will be finished in two months. This, with the 500-mile line from Kansas City to Whiting, will give the Stanard 800 miles of new line in this field. The cost of the line to Whiting is estimated at $10,000,000. The company has already spent $5,000,000 in the construction of pipe lines and tankage in this field.

The average daily production of the Kansas-Indian territory fields in July was 16,413 barrels. The daily consumption of the Neodesha refinery is 2,500 barrels, and the Kansas City refinery, when finished, will use about 5,000 barrels a day. Until recently it has been claimed the Kansas oil was of an asphalt base. This is now denied. A recent test showed 42 per cent of kerosene and 5.6 per cent of paraffine.

BURSTED MAIN CAUSED FLOOD

Line Entering Wabash Power House Breaks, Creating Havoc.

By the bursting of a private water main leading from the city main into the power house of the Wabash railroad, now under course of construction on First avenue near Ferry street, at 1:30 o'clock this morning, the structure threatened to be undermined.

The street was flooded, much water entering cellars in the neighborhood in which the Hostetter Company, adjoining, was most affected. Employes of the Allegheny Water Company had the water in check at 2:30 o'clock.

BARBECUE FOR THE ELKS OF MONONGAHELA VALLEY

CHARLEROI, PA., Aug. 14.—The greatest event in the Monongahela valley this year will be "Elks' day," at Eldora park, on Thursday, August 18. It will be under the auspices of Charleroi Lodge, No. 494, to celebrate the recent election of John K. Tener as grand treasurer. There will be a barbecue in charge of a professional ox-roaster from Cambria county. The Charleroi and Monongahela City Elks' baseball teams will play. Judge Taylor of Washington and John K. Tener of Charleroi will deliver addresses. President Roosevelt and Judge Parker will receive invitations.

Finds Channel of Gold.

SAN DIEGO, CAL., Aug. 14.—(Special.)—With a story of wealth "richer than any Klondike" W. H. Killeby, who left here a few months ago to hunt up an ancient channel, which he believes to run the entire length of the continent from Alaska to Lower California, has returned from the lower coast. He brings with him a number of bottles of heavy, coarse gravelly gold taken out. A concession has been obtained from Mexico. He believes there is more gold in sight than 1,000 men can work in 40 years.

Bad Blood

Pimples, rashes, eczema, boils, headache, nervousness, debility—these are some of the results of impure blood. Medical authorities agree that impure blood can be made pure and rich. Your doctor will tell you about Ayer's Sarsaparilla. $1.00. All druggists.

Bad blood follows constipation, and constipation follows a sluggish liver. Ayer's Pills are liver pills. They produce natural daily movements in a natural way.

LEOPARD CLAWS ZOO EMPLOYE

Thomas O'Neil Was Watering Jungle Beast, Which Tried to Seize Him.

ZOO ATTENDANCE GROWING

Whether the news of Adam-Zad's successful nipping of a lunch from the anatomy of Gerard Muser had reached into the leopard quarters at the zoo has not been entirely settled to the satisfaction of the attaches of the animal house, but they all thought it very curious yesterday when Nirvana, the Indian leopard, made an attack upon Assistant Keeper Thomas O'Neil. Nirvana's appetite went unsatisfied, for O'Neil was in better position for safety than Muser was when the Russian bear bit a piece out of him, but O'Neil has a bad gash on his right wrist, for Nirvana's attempt to seize him failed only by a scratch.

There are four leopards at the zoo, and Nirvana is the biggest, although, like giants of the human kind, he has always been considered quite good natured. He, another male leopard and a female are confined in the same cage. The carnivora are not fed on Sunday, but at the time when on other days meat is thrown to them they are watered. Along the whole row of cages, between the floor and the bottom bar is a space about four inches high, and through this space the pan containing the water is pushed.

Through that space O'Neil pushed a pan of water yesterday afternoon. The three leopards drank from it, and when they were through O'Neil got ready to pull out the pan. Nirvana placed his paw over the rim of the pan and pulled when O'Neil pulled, and as the leopard was the stronger the pan was jerked about a foot back in the cage. O'Neil reached in with his hand and arm and closed his fingers over the rim.

That movement of O'Neil's seemed to be the leopard's expected cue. He brought down one paw with great force upon the assistant keeper's hand, but O'Neil, with a push of the fingers, which were resting on the rim, pushed the pan back, then with a sidewise motion and a pull he withdrew his hand, one claw of the beast raking his wrist, making a gash an inch long and nearly half an inch deep. O'Neil got his arm away just in time, for the leopard's other paw was advancing with the design of seizing the arm and drawing O'Neil up to the bars, where the brute could have fed off him with comfort.

Assistant Keeper James O'Neil, the one who rescued Muser from the Russian bear, doctored up the wound, disinfecting it with drugs kept handy for just such emergencies, and the wounded man continued at his work with a bandage around the wrist.

The attack of the leopard was witnessed by a hundred persons, some of them being men who had seen the bear bite Muser two weeks ago. These two occurrences will probably increase the attendance at the zoo, to judge from the remarks made by the spectators.

Both Highland and Schenley parks were visited by hundreds, especially during the afternoon. At the entrance to Schenley the new temporary art gallery stands, with the walls half erected. Somebody who had heard that the Carnegie institute trustees want to give the building to the city, after the art exhibition is over, suggested that it would make a park stable, if it could be torn down and erected again behind the stone quarry, to take the place of the unsightly frame shed visible from Forbes street.

PARKER IN THE CATSKILLS.

Visiting Club of Which He Is Member. Attended Church Before Going to the Mountains.

WINNISOOK LODGE, ULSTER COUNTY, N. Y., Aug. 14.—Judge Alton B. Parker, the Democratic nominee for president, is spending the night at the Winnisook club, 2,700 feet above sea level, at the foot of Slide mountain, which is the highest point in the Catskills. He was the club's first president. Judge Parker, accompanied by Mrs. Parker, Fred H. Parker, the judge's brother, and Mrs. S. L. Dawes of Albany, attended church in Kingston this morning and then came here. Judge Parker himself drove the two-seated wagon up the mountain to the lodge. The party was enthusiastically received here and at several points en route.

Jolly Jack Tar.

"Jolly" is the word generally associated with the jack tar. He is the picture of health, and the health bubbles over in mirth and merriment. When people are sick, especially when sickness attacks the lungs, the doctor often advises a sea voyage. But in the large majority of cases the sea voyage is impossible.

It is to the men and women of the workaday world to whom sea voyages or change of climate are impossible, that Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery comes as the greatest earthly boon. The effect of this medicine upon those whose lungs are "weak" is remarkable. Even where there is bronchitis, spitting of blood, emaciation, weakness, conditions which if unchecked or unskillfully treated lead to consumption, "Golden Medical Discovery" in ninety-eight cases out of a hundred works a perfect and permanent cure. It strengthens the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition, so that the body in all its parts is not merely fed but nourished. And it is by nourishment that Nature builds up the body to resist or throw off disease.

"I had a terrible cough something over a year ago and could find nothing to stop it, or even to do me a particle of good," writes J. M. Farr, Esq., of Cameron, Screven Co., Ga. "I chanced to see an advertisement of yours, and forthwith bought a bottle of your invaluable 'Golden Medical Discovery.' Before I had taken half a bottle I was entirely well."

Dr. Pierce's Pellets cure constipation.
